LAST SESSION OF PRESENT LEGISLATURE STARTS

Tax Relief Scheme Is Approved Crowds Watch Ceremony Opening Final Meeting Of House Named In 1928

City's Legislative Group Endorses Proposal to Give Five-year Postponement on All Arrears of Property Taxes to End of Last Year

MOVE MADE TO AID TAXPAYERS

Requires Amendment to the Municipal Act at Present Session of Legislature; Union of B.C. Municipalities to Hear of Plan

Plans for a postponement of payments on civic tax arrears up to the end of 1932, amounting to a virtual five-year moratorium on the accounts now outstanding, were advanced another step yesterday when the legislative committee of the City Council approved the scheme.

The plan will require the sanction of the Legislature and since the city will apply to make it operative through an amendment to the Municipal Act, it would become province-wide in its scope.

At its convention next week the Union of B.C. Municipalities will be asked to endorse the proposal.

As a relief measure for taxpayers, the plan has two main features: It provides an opportunity for an owner to prevent his home going to tax sale; and to escape payment of penalties on his current tax accounts. A third clause lowers the interest rate on arrears from 8 to 6 per cent.

As applied to arrears, prior to the end of 1932, it would be effective for five years, from 1933 to 1937 inclusive. The legislation sought by the city provides that where a taxpayer meets his current tax bill plus interest on his arrears the property will not be liable for tax sale during the five-year period.

Vancouver Chief Is Not Recognized By One Board Member

Declaration of Commissioner G. Rush Affecting John Cameron New Factor in Terminal City's Police Tangle

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 23.—Notice that he refuses to recognize John Cameron as Vancouver's chief of police in view of the injunction granted last Saturday by the Appeal Court of B.C., has been served by Police Commissioner George Rush on A. F. Amor, secretary of the commission.

The commissioner also questions the right of the police board to take action on any subject while Mayor Louis D. Taylor's qualifications are under attack.

Mr. Rush's action is the latest development in the legal snarl which now surrounds the majority and the position of chief of police. Mayor Taylor's right to hold office has been challenged by A. M. Manson, K.C., M.P.P., counsel for the discharged police chief, Col. C. E. Edgett. The mayor plans court action to prove that a release on the onerous judgment against his property is effective. If he can not prove that, he may be unseated and a new election held. The judgment was registered last Monday.

LAST SATURDAY'S EVENTS

Chief Cameron is head of the police force by virtue of a resolution of the commission last Saturday, passed thirty-five minutes before members of the board received telegraphic advices from Victoria, that the Appeal Court had upheld Mr. Manson's appeal against the decision of Chief Justice Aulay Morrison of the Supreme Court refusing an injunction. The Appeal Court states the commission is restrained from dismissing Col. Edgett and from appointing a successor. The question will be finally heard March 2 by the Appeal Court here.

The sociologist, who is in her fifty-first year and has a daughter, holds an A.M. degree from Columbia University and has "long been known for her public work, having been a college lecturer and having served on a number of industrial inquiry and other commissions.

And at Washington, representative Henry T. Rainey, Democratic house leader, pointed to selection of Senator Hull as new Secretary of State and Daniel Roper as Secretary of Commerce as indicating President-Elect Roosevelt "is going forward with his reciprocity tariff program."

HINDENBURG CHARGE MADE

Bavarian Party Accuses Hitlerites of Coercing Aged German President

Associated Press
Berlin, Feb. 23.—A charge that the door of President Paul von Hindenburg had been closed to the public since Adolf Hitler became Chancellor was before the German electorate to-day.

It was made yesterday evening by Fritz Schaeffer, Bavarian People's Party leader, in a campaign speech at Nuremberg. He charged Hitlerites with seeking to curb the "free will" of the former field marshal, although under the German constitution the powers of the President exceed those of the Chancellor.

This came close on a sensational report of a plot to abduct the eighty-five-year-old President after the March election. Published in Swiss newspapers, it was described as "too silly" for a denial by the Hitler government.

RAIL GRAIN RATES CUT

To Attract Shipments, North-eastern U.S. Lines Reduce Levies to Seaboard

Associated Press
New York, Feb. 23.—Eastern railroads have tentatively agreed to lower their freight rate on wheat from Buffalo to New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Baltimore to 4½ cents a bushel from the present rate of 9.1 cents, it was learned to-day.

Adoption of the lower rate is contingent, however, on willingness of the Buffalo elevator interests to reduce their charge for elevation from 1 cent to ½ cent a bushel, thus making the full rate 5 cents a bushel. If an agreement results from the pending discussion the new rate will become effective April 15, and will be for the summer season only.

The Kapoor Lumber Company's big mill near Sooke is employing nearly 300 men and has a weekly output of twenty-four cars. Affleck's condition is serious. He was shot twice in the back, once in the left side and once in the wrist, but his condition is not considered serious.

Robinson had returned to the store after being on duty all night. He rushed up to the two men, shouting, "You put something in my coffee."

Carrying the smoking gun in his hand, Robinson walked out of the building. On the way to the police station to give himself up he met a constable and surrendered.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Dominion-wide Relief Policy Will Continue in British Columbia, His Honor Says

Twigg and Fitzsimmons Will Move and Second Reply to Speech

The government's policy in meeting the problem of unemployment was dealt with in the Speech from the Throne delivered by Lieutenant-Governor Johnson at the opening of the British Columbia Legislature this afternoon.

His Honor drew attention to the fact that prices and sales terms on crown lands reverted for taxes had been revised to make it easy for them to be occupied by settlers. Until such times as conditions improve the Dominion-wide regulations for unemployment relief would continue as far as British Columbia's needs were concerned. The province was endeavoring to create more employment by expanding the markets for its products.

The speech mentioned British Columbia's long standing claim for better terms had been placed before the Dominion Government.

Forecast of legislation referred to the Public Schools Act, Vital Statistics Act, Mineral Act and—Place Mining Act. Absence of reference to other anticipated legislation does not, however, mean that it may not be brought down.

H. D. Twigg, Victoria, will open the speech-making by moving the address in reply to the Speech. Capt. J. Fitzsimmons, Kalo-Slocan will second it. The Speech from the Throne is as follows:

"Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:
"I welcome you to the Fifth Session of the Seventeenth Parliament of British Columbia.

"The year 1932 has been an eventful one in the history of Canada and this province. The outstanding event of the year has been the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, where a new policy of intense significance to the future of the world trade was adopted. As a result of the agreements entered into, Canada has been given preference on her primary products, which should result in great benefits to be derived.

"During the year, this province was honored by a visit from His Excellency the Right Honourable the Earl of Beaulieu, Governor-General of Canada, and his gracious consort, the Countess of Beaulieu.

"As forecast last year, the first British Columbia Government inspectional tour, organized by the Agent-General of this province in London and financed by those participating in the tour, resulted in a representative party leaving Liverpool toward the end of May, 1932, for a tour of the Dominion. A special itinerary being arranged for the tour.

"The only legislation in the speech regarding legislation to be introduced was the single sentence: 'Various measures in amendment to the statute law of the province will be presented for your consideration.'

Prospects of Early Election in Spotlight as B.C. Members Gather

Interest Keen In Proceedings To-day

Representative Audience Hears Lieut.-Governor Read Speech From Throne

Opening of a session of the British Columbia Legislature that will play a part in the political history of the province was witnessed by thousands of people in Victoria when Lieut.-Governor Fordham Johnson came from Government House to the Legislative Chamber this afternoon at 3 o'clock to read the Speech from the Throne at the final session of the Tenth Government which was swept into office in July, 1928.

The session is expected to be a memorable one for several reasons. As an election is not anticipated until the summer, the government will have held to office to practically the last day of its term. It will possibly mark a change of leadership of a party in power and possibly the launching of a new union government party.

The interest shown in the ceremony to-day equalled that shown at any similar occasion. Naval and military officers and men and the band of the 16th Canadian Scottish lent color to the proceedings, the feather bonnets bright tunics, tartans and kilts of the Scots providing the brightest touch.

There was no mounted escort as last year but a dozen mounted provincial police were on duty at the Parliament Buildings.

His Honor was accompanied by Mrs. Fordham Johnson and Mrs. Hobart Molson with Major Seldon Humphreys and Capt. W. Hobart Molson as personal aides and Lieut.-Commander A. C. Wurtzels, R.C.M., and Lieut.-Col. A. V. Tremaine as aides. He was preceded to the buildings by a squad of motorcycle police. Naval and military aides and his private secretary, A. M. D. Fairbairn, escorted him.

GUARDS OF HONOR
Two guards of honor saluted him as he walked along the pathway to the entrance of the building. One was composed of men of the Royal Canadian Navy under Lieut.-Commander E. G. Hart, R.C.N., and A. H. Baker, Gunner, R.C.N., second in command, and the other men of the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish under Capt. S. Robertson, Lieut. F. Cabell and Lieut. C. E. Wightman.

SALUTE ROOMS OUT
Eighteen pound guns of the 54th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, manned by men under Capt. R. E. Ker and Second Lieut. C. W. Barker and P. Ridgeway Wilson, boomed a fifteen round salute as His Honor reached the buildings.

As His Honor took the salute the 16th Canadian Scottish Band played a series of "God Save the King" and he then proceeded to inspect the guard of honor drawn up on the driveway in front of the Parliament Buildings, the naval detachment being inspected first.

CROWDS AT BUILDINGS
Crowds lined the Causeway and streets around the Parliament Buildings to get a view of the proceedings, inside the legislative chamber, every seat that could be placed on the floor was occupied and the galleries were packed.

British Columbia, which, in addition to providing attractions for a tourist standpoint, furnished the necessary financial and commercial contacts which must precede increased trade.

My government was represented at the Interprovincial Conference held in Ottawa last month, when consideration was given to the following matters: Unemployment and relief conditions; unemployment and social insurance; old-age pensions; duplication of Dominion and provincial taxation; company law; jurisdiction over insurance companies; avoidance of overlapping where both Dominion and provincial authorities are exercising jurisdiction; the regulation of truck and motor-bus services competing with interprovincial and national rail transportation facilities; and uniform statistical information.

"Since last we met, this Legislature has suffered a loss in the death of Mr. Michael Manson, one of the oldest and most honored members of the Legislature. His passing has been deeply felt by all those who had the privilege of knowing him.

"The timber industry of the Pacific Coast, like all others, were affected by economic conditions and curtailment of markets. It is encouraging, however, to note that, while total forest area shipments from the North Pacific dropped still further in 1932, those from British Columbia increased by 10 per cent and the trade within the empire increased 69 per cent over 1931, due very largely to the trade-extension work conducted jointly by my government and the timber interests, and but for which a considerable further curtailment in operations and employment would have followed.

GOLD

"Adverse economic conditions have emphasized the possibilities for useful and profitable employment in the development of our mineral resources. While it is true that the low level of base-metal world prices has retarded that branch of the industry, the province, it is becoming ever more apparent, possesses important and as yet undeveloped gold resources, both in lode formation and in its alluvial gravels. It is gratifying to note that this is being recognized by those with capital to invest at home and abroad, as well as by the enterprising spirit of our country who are equipping themselves for prospecting this year.

"Amendments to the 'Mineral Act' and the 'Placer-mining Act' calculated to bring those statutes more in line with present conditions, but in nowise to change the vital underlying principles of our mining laws, will be submitted to the Legislature.

"Agriculture, in common with other industries, has suffered from deflated prices and lack of markets. With the preference accorded agricultural products at the Imperial Economic Conference, the agriculturist should be the first to regain his normal place. If our agricultural industry can secure the maximum benefit from the market, Great Britain affords our exportable supplies must be continuous, in sufficient volume, and of a quality and price to interest our overseas customers.

"It is encouraging to the producer to note that agriculture in British Columbia in 1932 took first place over all other basic industries in value of commodities produced. The programme for 1933 indicates that this industry will maintain the lead during the present year.

"The price and terms of sale of ordinary Crown lands, and lands reverted for taxes, have been revised and modified, and a provision for easier means for bona fide settlers to acquire lands as a medium for self-support.

"My government has placed before the government of the Dominion of Canada the long-standing claim of this province for better terms. British Columbia has for many years sought and has now renewed its petition for an investigation of its claims for adequate consideration arising out of the peculiar historical, economic, and physical conditions affecting British Columbia at the time of Confederation and since continuing.

"A commission was agreed to and partly appointed in 1912 to investigate these claims, but the war breaking out shortly after prevented any action.

"Until such time as there is a material improvement in the world economic situation, it is intended that Dominion-wide negotiations for the administration of unemployment relief will continue to be enforced having regard to our special needs in British Columbia. This will be done, as far as possible, in such manner as to conserve the interests of the taxpayer and without embarrassment to the self-respect of the recipient.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

"The problems and difficulties arising from the economic conditions prevalent throughout the world to-day demand wise, carefully considered, but effective action on the part of all governments. They constitute a call for co-operation of every one, ruler and people alike, for the exertion of all the best and noblest in our boasted civilization, in a determined effort to put the world's affairs on a sound basis.

"My government, while recognizing the seriousness of the situation, and realizing the tremendous tasks that face it, has refused to be stampeded. It has put into effect every economy that it felt could be carried out without unduly serious consequences. At the same time, it has not lost faith in the courage and fortitude of my people, nor in the wonderful resources of the province, endeavoring to keep British Columbia in such a condition as to be able to take full advantage of the development and growth that will be made possible when prosperous times return. It is with this end in view that my government has been making every effort to develop our markets, for it is largely in the development of our markets that employment will be created for our people.

"Legislation will be submitted for your consideration dealing with the Public Schools Act, Vital Statistics Act, Mineral Act, and Placer-mining Act.

"Reports of the various departments of my government will be laid before you in due course.

"The public accounts of the last fiscal year and the estimates for the coming year will be submitted for your consideration.

"I leave you in confidence that your duties will be faithfully performed, and may the blessings of a Divine Providence inspire and guide your deliberations."

After he had inspected the guards, His Honor proceeded by his aides and followed by his private secretary, walked up the steps at the entrance to the rotunda and was greeted by Premier Tominer, R.N., and Mr. Davis. After the usual formality of the Sergeant-at-Arms advising that everything was in readiness he proceeded to the dais to read the King's Speech.

After the reading of the speech, the Premier, carrying the mace, the Premier and the Speaker, Uniformed officers of the army and the navy lined the legislative chamber.

After reading the speech His Honor's party, with his aides and followed by the officers taking part in the proceedings left the chamber and the first day of the B.C. Legislature closed.

Welsh M.P. Is Called By Death

London, Feb. 23.—A parliamentary vacancy was created by the death to-day of Lieut.-Col. D. Watts-Morgan, Labor member for East Rhondda, Wales, since 1918.

Lieut.-Col. Watts-Morgan was chairman of the Welsh Labor party and had served on many important parliamentary committees. At the opening of the session in 1932, he was elected as a member of the Welsh Labor party, but eventually became a major in the battery, which during the retreat of the Fifth Army in March, 1918, held up the German onrush with picks and shovels when it was surprised without arms.

Lieut.-Col. Morgan was given the D.S.O. for the part he played in that action.

He was re-elected in the 1931 general election by a majority of 11,727 over a Communist candidate.

Still In Japanese Campaign in Jehol

Indications Are That Nippon Leaders Are Delaying Big Offensive Against Chinese Till League of Nations Assembly Votes on Manchurian Report

Canadian Press and Associated Press Mukden, Manchuria, Feb. 23.—Strong indications Japan was postponing her offensive into the Chinese province of Jehol until the League of Nations passes on recommendations which have been drawn up concerning the Manchurian dispute were seen to-day in a lull succeeding the occupation of Peiping, the terminus of a railroad line from Chinchow.

In addition there were heavy snowstorms in Jehol province and in South Manchuria. These were impeding preparatory movements for the offensive and it was thought it might be postponed until the end of the month.

Meanwhile the hope was expressed by optimistic Japanese leaders that the settlement of the Jehol problem might result from developments in Peiping.

One section of the Japanese forces, according to advices received here, had halted temporarily at Peiping, 150 miles south of here, after occupying the city yesterday. The other section of the Japanese offensive was pointed toward Kaihi, the northeastern gateway to the province. Bombing planes were accompanying the latter contingents.

(A Peiping dispatch said Chinese forces were still holding Peiping in their advance over the border in that region.)

WOMAN STRUCK BY AUTODIES

Miss Rosita Clark Loses Life in Highway Accident in Vancouver

Canadian Press Vancouver, Feb. 23.—Miss Rosita Clark, thirty-four, of 1254 Melville Street, died at 12:40 o'clock this morning when struck by an auto in the driving rain at Broadway and Arbutus Street.

Robert G. Hunter, managing director of Purdy's Cafe, Granville, alleged driver of the car, was arrested by police on technical charge of manslaughter and released on bail of $5,000.

Miss Clark and a companion, Thomas Harting, also of 1254 Melville Street, were running to intercept an east-bound street car when the accident occurred. Mr. Harting ran ahead in order to stop the car and when he looked back, Miss Clark lay on the roadway. She died while being taken to St. Paul's Hospital.

Hunter's car was proceeding west on Broadway. Miss Clark and her companion were crossing Broadway from the north side. It was raining heavily at the time.

Hunter was remanded until March 2 before appearing before Magistrate W. M. McKay to-day.

CHANG HAI-PENG OPERATES

Gen. Chang Hai-peng, a former band leader whose name meant terror to many communities, was leading the advance on Kaihi, the northern gateway to the province of Jehol, when the Japanese forces occupied the province of Jehol last night.

MARCH NORTHWARD

Shanghai, Feb. 23.—Japanese dispatches from Chinchow to-night said two divisions of Chinese troops concentrated southwest of Shanhai, preparing to enter Jehol.

Joe Kin, Chinese, East Pender Street, received minor injuries at 4 p.m. when knocked down at the corner of Columbia and Hastings streets by a car. He was removed to the General Hospital.

Shanghai, Feb. 23.—Japan officially informed the Chinese Nationalist Government to-day that unless Chinese troops were withdrawn from Jehol province by the end of the month, Japan would expel them forcibly.

S. Yumura, acting Japanese consul-general at Nanking, verbally informed Lo Wen-kan, Chinese Foreign Minister, of the demand.

A Japanese spokesman here stated that Yumura "was acting on instructions from Tokyo."

NO TIME LIMIT

The spokesman stated "the communication is a warning to the Nanking Government which carries no time limit."

(Changchun and Harbin, Manchuria, Feb. 23.—Japan's new dispatches said the Manchukuo military commission in Manchuria, had issued a twenty-four-hour ultimatum to the Chinese Government. It was to expire at midnight to-night.)

Although Nanking has not yet received receipt of such a communication, as the Japanese spokesman described and the Japanese termed it a "warning," it is considered tantamount to the anticipated ultimatum.

The Japanese spokesman, as narrated by the Japanese newspaper, came soon after a Japanese legation statement yesterday that no such communication would be sent to Nanking. Instead, it said in event there should be such a communication it would be sent only to Marshal Chang Hsiao-ling, commander of regular Chinese troops in Jehol.

NOT PREDICTING

The Japanese spokesman to-day declined to predict future developments, adding, however, that in event Governor Tang Yu-lin of Jehol "takes a broader view of the situation, it may relieve a crisis."

This was taken to mean the Japanese have hopes Governor Tang would declare his allegiance to the Japanese. The Japanese intend to annex Jehol to Manchukuo.

Although censorship of press dispatches from Nanking is sharp, it is understood Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, military chief of the government, has arrived there from Kiangsi province to confer with Acting Premier T. V. Soong and other Nationalist leaders concerning the northern crisis.

The generalissimo was in Kiangsi to direct the campaign there against Chinese Communists.

MENACE GROWS

Washington, Feb. 23.—International complications of a grave nature are feared by foreign diplomatic and consular officers in north China since the fighting between Chinese and Japanese troops spread south of the Great Wall and involve Peiping and Tientsin.

Those two cities have foreign concessions and extensive foreign interests. Even had a population of over 1,000,000 and western powers cannot forget the horrors experienced by their nationals in those cities in 1900, when they were besieged by Boxers for many weeks.

Peiping is less than fifty miles south of the Great Wall at its nearest point Tientsin, which is eighty miles south-east of Peiping, is 200 miles from the Jehol border, which is marked by the Great Wall.

BUSY PORT

Tientsin is forty miles from the sea, but is connected with it by the Pei-ho, which is navigable for ocean-going ships to that point. Along the banks of that stream, in Tientsin, lie the British, French, Belgian, Italian and Japanese concessions, where the trade of those nations is centred.

Tientsin is the great port of entry for all north China and is comparable to Shanghai, which suffered so severely last year when the Japanese and Chinese clashed there.

Peiping is less important commercially, but is the cultural and educational centre of China and contains the old imperial palaces and many ancient temples. Although the Chinese government now uses Peiping as its capital, the foreign powers still retain their legations in Peiping and their diplomats live there most of the time.

Freight Rates Act Payments Reported

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—Payments made by the Dominion Government to the railways of Canada from the passing of the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927 up to the end of the last fiscal year amounted to $47,368,958, according to a return tabled in the Commons.

Of the total the sum of $33,971,393 was paid to the Canadian National Railway, and $13,397,565 to other lines.

A. McDONALD OF VANCOUVER DIES

Canadian Press Vancouver, Feb. 23.—Archibald McDonald, twenty-two, member of the provincial legislature for the Lillooet district, died at his home here to-day of a heart ailment.

Mr. McDonald, who had lived a semi-retired life in Vancouver since 1918, had been in failing health for three months.

Archibald McDonald was one of the pioneers of British Columbia. He came to the coast fifty-five years ago when the present sites of Vancouver and New Westminster were mostly brush and timberland.

New Sea Lord Sociable Chap

London—A first sea Lord, about two years ago, at a party given in Devonshire House, Piccadilly, by Mrs. Alec Tweedie, who is famous for her travel books.

Admiral Chatfield was standing by the buffet, smiling genially and serving a glass to one of his pretty daughters. He did not look at all like the stern, iron-jawed admiral of tradition.

But, though he can be genial on the proper occasion, Admiral Chatfield can also be a very efficient sailor. He first sprang into fame as Admiral Beatty's flag captain in all his actions in the Lion. He is probably the foremost gunnery expert in the navy. He will certainly be a fit successor for Admiral Jellicoe.

HOLLYWOOD DEATH IS INVESTIGATED

Los Angeles, Feb. 23.—District Attorney Buron Fiske revealed to-day that a new investigation into the death of Paul Bern, film executive and husband of Jean Harlow, had been completed and he was convinced it was a case of suicide.

The prosecution disclosed the new investigation had been carried out through the efforts of W. W. Widenham, forensic expert of the county, and O. G. Laviton, chairman of the criminal complaints committee. It centred primarily around the question of the authenticity of the "suicide" penned by Bern in a small note book.

The district attorney announced that J. Clark Sellers, hand writing expert, had investigated the note and reported the hand writing was that of Paul Bern.

Tax Relief Scheme Is Approved

A study of tax arrears, based on a survey just completed by the city treasury, reveals that a most important line is essential to protect the homes of our people. Mayor Leeming said this morning in commenting on the plan, "Three classes of tax payers are going to be hit by the new plan. The first class is the property owner who has not paid his taxes. The second class is the property owner who has not paid his taxes. The third class is the property owner who has not paid his taxes."

Thomas Conn, miner, was charged on four counts: Using percussive air drills not equipped with water spray; permitting wrong tapping and using a non-permitted explosive, 40 per cent polar forcelite gelatin, to be used.

Parnham pleaded guilty to the first charge and was fined $20 and costs, or in default twenty days. He pleaded not guilty to charges two and three and the case was adjourned until next Monday.

Climbers' Farewell Is Cheerful Party

London—A party given to the climbers of the Mount Everest Expedition, and his wife, who until a month ago was Miss "Mae" MacDonald, a popular New Zealander. He had all our pictures taken by the film camera which the expedition are taking to India with them. Harlow said he was leaving to use the camera by the method of trial and error—especially error!

A day or two previously six members of the expedition had gone through grueling tests of their fitness at the Royal Aircraft establishment at Farnborough, Hampshire, under the vigilant eyes of specialists from the Air Ministry.

Apparently they all passed the tests with flying colors. At any rate, everybody was very cheerful at the party.

CATTLE EXPORT PLAN IS URGED

Toronto, Feb. 23.—The Toronto Globe to-day published the following special dispatch from Ottawa:

"Vigorous representations are being made to Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, and to the cabinet at large to lend immediate financial support to a scheme whereby some 20,000 head of cattle now ready for export, the livestock men of Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec are actively represented in furthering the scheme.

"The proposal is two-fold: First, the government is being asked to bring about a substantial reduction in rail rates on cattle from interior points to the coast. This would be done by a subvention, similar to the subventions granted to coal producers.

"Second, the government is being urged to arrange for additional cattle ships to carry the surplus livestock to Britain in the next two months. This could be done by either leasing or buying tramp ships suitable for the trade, or by making vessel owners a cash grant of sufficient size to pay the cost of equipping the ships with stalls.

"A third point which is being pressed, but which has no direct relation to the export scheme, is that the government, by regulation, should cut off commission and handling cost on livestock markets by 25 per cent."

ARMS EXPORTS
ARE PERMITTED

British Commons Told Embargo For Far East Should Be International

London, Feb. 23.—The cabinet decided yesterday Great Britain should not act independently for an effective arms embargo on the Far East. Co-operation by other arms-exporting countries was essential for any practical scheme, the ministers held.

France, Italy and Great Britain can apply an embargo by the simple process of refusing licenses for the export of arms, but the official view here is that the procedure in some other arms-producing countries is not so simple.

The cabinet yesterday also finally approved its instructions for the British delegation which will attend the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva Friday, when a report censuring Japan's policy toward China will be considered.

Earlier in the day Premier MacDonald declared in the Commons that only through an international agreement could an arms embargo for the Far East be accomplished. He agreed during a discussion with Mr. Hon. George Lansbury, Labour leader, the question should be settled quickly.

Meanwhile a threat of an economic boycott against Japan and an arms embargo against both Japan and China were voiced by the Council of Trade Unions and the national executive of the Labour Party. The joint group announced the British Labor movement, in an event Japan should reject recommendations of the League of Nations for settlement of the Manchurian controversy, would urge such steps.

London, Feb. 23.—Maundy Gregory, Hyde Park Terrace, was sentenced here to two months' imprisonment and fined £50, with fifty guineas costs for having attempted to obtain £10,000 from Lieutenant-Commander E. W. Leake, D.S.O., as an inducement to procure a title for Leake.

The prosecution was the first of its kind under the act passed in 1925 intended to prevent abuse of honors. The defendant approached Lieut-Commander Leake with professions he would obtain him a title for the sum named.

Lieut-Commander Leake promptly reported the matter to the authorities.

Commons Has Peace
Rail Outlet Debate

Decides By 133 to 39 Present
Is Inopportune Time to Begin Building Line to B.C.
Coast

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The Commons yesterday had its anticipated debate on the Peace River district and its railway needs. The resolution, moved by D. M. Kennedy, United Farmer member for Peace River, proposed a direct railway connection between the Alberta section of the Peace River district and the British Columbia coast. The cost had been estimated at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, it was stated.

The debate ended with the resolution being rejected by 133 to 39 votes.

The division cut across party lines, with sixteen Liberals, ten Conservatives and thirteen United Farmers and Progressives voting for the railway plan.

PREVIOUS DEBATES
Moving his resolution, Mr. Kennedy recalled the matter had been debated a dozen times in the House, but no action had been taken. At every election since 1924 the Peace River railway project had been promised by both parties, he said.

Development in the Peace River area had started in 1910 and the population had increased to 80,000 people. Sir Henry Thornton, in 1922, when he had taken over the presidency of the Canadian National Railway, had promised the people of the Peace River district a direct outlet to the Pacific when their production of grain for export reached 10,000,000 bushels, Mr. Kennedy said.

For the last six years the exportable produce of the district had been twice that volume, Mr. Kennedy continued.

During the time the demand for the Peace River branch line had been made annually, Mr. Kennedy declared, the Canadian National had been spending millions for unnecessary facilities, such as hotels and in wasted competition.

JOBS FOR MEN NOW IDEAL
The construction of a railway might be used to relieve unemployment in British Columbia, and Alberta, said other speakers.

The financial position of Canada precluded construction of a Peace River railway outlet this year, said Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways.

RAILWAY BILL IS AMENDED

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—Amendments to Canada's new transportation law proposed by Mr. Hon. Arthur Meighen, government party leader, after an exhaustive study by the Senate railway committee, were approved yesterday by the Senate in committee of the whole and the bill was sent over to-day for third and final reading.

The amendments were chiefly designed to clarify the provisions of the bill with regard to those phases of their activities on which the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific will be bound to co-operate in the interests of economy.

Assurance was given Senator James Murdoch, Liberal, Ontario, that the new legislation would not override the provisions of the Railway Act or of the Industrial Disputes Act with respect to social, humane and safety laws.

One of the amendments added yesterday provides the compulsory co-operation features of the bill will not affect "(a) any manufacturing, land, mining or ocean marine company, undertaking, property, work or service" or "(b) any transportation, communication or hotel service which is within another legislative competence than that of Canada or a province of Canada, or which is subject to the National Railway and the Canadian Pacific Railway is not competitive."

This amendment is intended to meet the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which engages in certain mining, ocean shipping and other activities which do not compete with the Canadian National. They will not be subject to the compulsory provisions of the bill.

Other amendments define the two railways with the same object in view. From the Senate the bill is to be sent to the Commons, which has not yet debated it.

DEBT INQUIRY

Commons Banking Group
Studies Lower Interest Rates
Throughout Canada

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The banking and commerce committee of the Commons has started its investigation of the problem of public and private debt burdens carried by the people of Canada, as called to the attention of the House by Alfred Speakman, U.F.A., Red Deer, in the form of a resolution.

Mr. Speakman's resolution urged the House and government should give "serious and immediate attention" to the question of debt and interest rates within Canada and the possibility of their reduction either by way of direct action or by the submission of the entire problem to a committee of the House to seek a solution.

Mr. Speakman was called before the committee to explain at its first sitting yesterday the resolution, and a sub-committee of three members was appointed to secure witnesses and outline the method to be followed in pursuing the investigation.

Mr. Speakman expressed the opinion that unless something were done to reduce debts and lower interest rates, Canada could not recover from the present financial depression.

DEATH INQUIRY IS REOPENED

Los Angeles, Feb. 23.—A reopening of the investigation into the death of Paul Bern, motion picture producer and husband of Jean Harlow, screen star, appeared likely to-day as a result of a secret inquiry started by two members of the county grand jury.

The jurors, acting on their own initiative, obtained a copy of the transcript of the evidence at the inquest on the death of Bern and have been studying it several days, it was learned.

New information received by the two from private sources is reported to be the incentive for the present study of the circumstances of the producer's death.

Bern was found shot to death in the dressing room of his Benedict Canyon estate last September, a few months after his marriage to the platinum blonde actress. A suicide verdict was brought in at the coroner's inquest.

PAYING MARKET
PRICE FOR GOLD

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—"I should like to ask the government if it intends to continue during 1933 the payment of a premium to the gold producers of Canada," inquired Olof Hanson, Liberal, Skeena, in the Commons yesterday afternoon.

"The price paid for gold is the price the producers can obtain elsewhere and that is all," Premier Bennett answered. "The government has commanded gold in the sense that it cannot be exported without a license and it is purchased at the price which the producer could obtain for his products in other markets."

CHILD FOILS
SAVAGE BEAR

Seven-year-old Saves Brother
By Striking Boston Zoo
Animal With Iron Pipe

Associated Press
Boston, Feb. 23.—When seven-year-old Johnnie Suviuski disobeyed started following the footsteps of his brother Anthony, he was just a "tag-along"—a kid who wouldn't go home. His return was triumphant, as a hero, for he had bested a bear and probably saved his bigger brother's life.

Into the park zoo little Johnnie followed his brother and chums on their sight-seeing tour yesterday. Suddenly a bear whisked out an angry paw and pulled Anthony into its cage.

Anthony's grown up pals shouted and threw mud, but Johnnie found a piece of iron pipe and wedged into the cage as a helper ran up shouting warnings.

"Wham" came the pipe down on the bear's snout. With a surprised howl bruised retreated to the rear of his cage.

Anthony was carried to a hospital by a zoo attendant, his right leg, thigh and arm torn by the bear's claws. Hero Johnnie emerged from the cage unscathed and was accompanied home by another attendant who loudly sang the youngster's praises to parents, at first shocked, then proud.

ARMS DISPUTE SETTLED
London, Feb. 23.—Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, told the Commons yesterday that hope he had expressed Tuesday for an amicable settlement of the Austrian arms dispute seemed to have been realized, as he understood the Austrian Government had agreed to a proposed solution. Therefore, he said, he thought it inadvisable to revive the controversy by publishing the diplomatic correspondence as a questioner had requested.

PLAN TO LIMIT
BUTTER EXPORTS

New Zealand to Regulate Shipments to Britain For Short Period

Canadian Press
Wellington, N.Z., Feb. 23.—New Zealand is to try and fulfil the United Kingdom's request that butter exports to the latter country be reduced.

According to a statement made by Premier G. W. Forbes to-day, New Zealand is prepared, as a basis for further negotiations, to adopt an arrangement for the reduction of butter exports to Great Britain for a short period on condition Australia reduce her shipments, and foreign imports into the United Kingdom are restricted.

The Premier's statement was regarded by dairymen, as of little importance. The producers had previously decided it would be impossible to restrict exportation of New Zealand butter to Great Britain and suggested it would be better to attain free trade with Britain before the expiry of the Imperial conference.

The situation has arisen from reports that Britain might put an import restriction on dairy produce to protect her own dairy industry.

AFTER THE SESSION WHAT WILL HAPPEN?

One of the few sure things about the session which was opened this afternoon with customary pomp is that it is the last deliberate assembly of the seventeenth Legislature of the province. Whether it will be long or short, lively or tame, nobody now knows. The leader of the government, of course, hopes for a quiet, short gathering. The leader of the opposition has expressed his desire for a brief session and an early election. But whether the desire of either will be gratified or not will depend upon the character of the legislation that will be introduced. Final sessions are invariably long and lively, for both governments and oppositions, in anticipation of ensuing elections, naturally compete with one another in trying favorably to impress the electorate.

There are, however, one or two things about this present session that the public does know, apart from the fact that it is the last gathering of the present Legislature. One of them is that the government will preserve its party identity from beginning to end, as well as its existing personnel. Another is that the Finance Minister will report a hair-raising deficit, and will propose another lot of new taxation. Also, there is good ground for the expectation that, notwithstanding the declarations of independence which some government supporters in the House issue between sessions, and boldly make in private conversation, they will be found, with very few exceptions, in the forecastle of the governmental ship when they are needed. Whether they are aware of the fact or not, nine-tenths of them politically are doomed, and, in any case, they might as well go down with the vessel as jump overboard and either drown or be consumed by sharks separately.

While the session is likely to proceed without any notable defections in the government's strength, beyond that the outlook is nebulous. Premier Tolmie is committed to a party convention for the promotion of a union government, but within the party hostility to that objective is so strong that its consideration would cause a split, and the Premier probably would find himself in a minority with somebody else leading a majority of party regulars. Hence, there is likely to be a determined effort by the party organization to prevent the holding of a convention and to force the Premier to abandon his union programme.

Another factor in the uncertainty which surrounds the government's future is Mr. W. J. Bowser, K.C., who up to this time has resisted the blandishments, and other forms of pressure, of those who want him to join the Tolmie forces, and is proceeding with the organization of his own party. Apparently Mr. Bowser is determined to go his own way regardless of party conventions and the Premier's programme. As far as he is concerned, there is to be only one prince in Israel, who will be himself. Thus if the Conservative party shall split on union there may be three distinct groups led by Conservatives or former Conservatives. The Liberals so far have remained substantially cohesive under Mr. Pattullo's leadership.

Nor is there likely to be an early election. The government's term will not expire until the end of August, and most of the ministers probably will desire to keep the ship at sea until the very last minute, incidentally hoping that something somewhere or somehow will turn up that will improve economic conditions and give them a chance of re-election. There is nothing exceptional in that attitude, since most governments have been pursuing it for the last three years.

IMPROVED TRADE VITAL FOR CANADA'S FUTURE

We are told by a Conservative contemporary that one of the factors that operates in favor of the depreciation of the Canadian dollar in terms of American currency is an adverse balance in our trade with the United States of "upwards of $100,000,000 annually." Then we read that "no one supposes that a reciprocity treaty, such as Mr. King proposes, could do anything to offset this depreciation," that "any trade treaty of the character suggested would undoubtedly benefit the United States more than Canada; in other words, it would increase the adverse balance by leading to a flood of American products." The old chestnut that Mr. King is always supposed to be fearful that Canada should do anything to "offend its great neighbor" is followed by this: "It was said of the late Lord Haldane that his spiritual home was in Germany. It may yet be said of Mr. Mackenzie King that his economic home is in the United States."

The implication which lies behind the frequent reference to the balance against Canada in her trade exchange with the United States is that it is a condition brought about by the lower tariff policy of the King government. But it will be noted that the few newspapers which continually harp on this subject carefully avoid the quotation of comparative figures or give details of the business which the two countries have been doing with one another since Confederation. As a matter of fact, the balance has not been in Canada's favor since 1880, when we had an advantage in a total trade of a little less than $58,000,000 of $1,372,000, while the only other years in which the balance was against the United States were 1868 to 1871 inclusive. The following table shows the totals for the years 1912 to 1921, when the Conservatives were in office:

	Exports	Imports
1912	$102,641,222	$381,384,657
1913	139,728,953	436,887,315
1914	163,372,825	398,302,138
1915	173,320,216	297,142,059
1916	201,108,488	370,880,549
1917	280,816,390	665,312,759
1918	417,233,287	792,894,937
1919	454,873,170	750,203,024
1920	464,028,183	801,097,318
1921	542,322,987	856,176,820

In the years 1922 and 1923, which marked the slump in Canada and in the United States after the immediate post-war period of prosperity, the exchange of commodities dropped considerably; but the total reached the billion mark again in 1924 and in the fiscal year ending March, 1930, the last full business year under the King administration, the value of our sales to the United States was $515,049,763 and our purchases $847,442,037. But the point to be remembered is that in those years when the balance against this country was greatest, Canada's dollar was worth one hundred cents in New York and, at times, it could exact a premium. The exchange is against Canada to-day because we are only doing as much business with the world now as we were doing twenty years ago, when our net debt was less than $400,000,000, compared with $2,600,000,000 at the present time. And the fact that our trade with the United States is about one-third of what it was in 1930 likewise has something to do with the value of our dollar in New York.

It is only fair to say that Canada did not start the tariff war; our neighbor began it with the Fordney-McCumber tariff, followed it up with the Smoot-Hawley tariff, and then penalized our lumber and other products for good measure. In self-defence, this country was obliged to retaliate. Happily, however, it seems fairly clear that Mr. Roosevelt will make advances to the Ottawa government when he has caught his stride in Washington next month. It is also gratifying to know that when he does, Premier Bennett will be in a receptive frame of mind, for he informed the House of Commons the other day that his government was ready to negotiate.

The next reciprocity agreement with the United States will be Mr. Bennett's, and it will be enthusiastically endorsed by the Conservative press, including even those who now are criticizing Mr. King because he proposes it. Incidentally, nobody is forgetting that there are more than a million Canadians on relief at this time; that Mr. Bennett will have to issue a big conversion loan—in other words a partial repudiation—to avert federal bankruptcy, and, in all the circumstances it ought to be apparent to even an ostrich with its head in the sand, that a very early and exhaustive improvement of Canada's trade with her biggest customer is essential to the economic recovery of this country. Mr. Bennett knows this; otherwise he would not be talking about reciprocity with the United States.

HON. H. H. STEVENS AND VICTORIA COLD STORAGE

Hon. H. H. Stevens' reply to the recommendation of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce for a federal subsidy for the cold storage establishment at Ogdon Point is impermissibly deficient in tone and very faulty in matter. He charged the Chamber with taking part in a "campaign," which had become general throughout the country, for federal assistance to industries which were suffering from adverse economic conditions. He also stated that the cold storage subsidy legislation only permitted assistance of this kind to be given before the plants were established, and implied that application for a subsidy should have been made at that time in regard to the Victoria project.

If Mr. Stevens had taken the same trouble to familiarize himself with the history of this case that he would have taken if a similar application had been made by the Vancouver Board of Trade for a Vancouver project, his letter to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce might have been marked by more courtesy and less juvenile cockiness. It is a matter of record that application was made to Ottawa for a federal subsidy for the Ogdon Point plant before it was erected, and the Chamber of Commerce was merely endorsing something which had been done in strict accordance with the government's regulations.

If, notwithstanding the fact that the application had been made in proper form and at the proper time, the government is now prohibited by law from granting a subsidy, it ought to be possible for Mr. Stevens to make this clear without charging the Victoria Chamber of Commerce with engaging in a "campaign" to embarrass the government of which Mr. Stevens is a member. Mr. Stevens does not like Victoria, but he should remember that apart from being the representative of British Columbia in the federal cabinet, he is only a public servant, after all. There are too many vest-pocket, would-be Mussolinis in the public life of Canada.

Incidentally, we might remind the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and our readers generally, of the fact, often excusably overlooked, that this city has a representative at Ottawa in the person of one Mr. Plunkett, whom its electorate, in their eccentric conception of wisdom, chose as their member of the House of Commons instead of Hon. J. D. MacLean, and who is supposed to promote the interests of his constituents in matters of this kind.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE TAX GATHERER
The Calgary Herald

Business will not improve until people spend more, but they cannot spend what the tax gatherer has taken from them.

INDUSTRY AND SOCIETY
The Regina Star

There is to-day a general expression of belief that drastic changes in our social system are inevitable because of the mechanistic changes that have been brought by the advance in technological science. Men have become alarmed at the monstrous robot they have themselves created. Yet, considering the changes wrought by the passing of the years, the increase in population, the higher standard of living, the newer methods of life, the situation to-day is not proportionately worse than at the inception of the Industrial Revolution.

Loose Ends

I prepare gallantly for the thirteenth session, but without much hope—a touching ode is written to the Legislature—the country is saved—and Tim gives his views on the great city.

By H. B. W.

INTO EXILE

THIS IS by way of farewell, I am about to go into exile, to endure horrors unknown and hardships from which one averts the mind. Not to harrow you further, I am going to the Legislature. From now until the House mercifully prorogues you will be deprived of my valuable advice on all subjects and I really don't know how you will get on. You will hear only the advice of the Legislature in this space. Well, perhaps it will make you appreciate me when I return, though I doubt it. Anyway, you may be sure of finding here a report of the Legislature as faithful and as accurate as my usual report of civilization's larger problems and the activities of the little girl next door, but of course it won't mean as much.

IT IS AN urgent matter of public duty for me to report the Legislature, and only a high sense of responsibility persuades me to do it. I am a patriotic patriot, indeed! (and the sordid necessity of making a living), would persuade any man to sit all through the Legislature, particularly when this is my thirteenth session, so far as I can calculate. The thirteenth session is a long one, and I am sure that all of us successive sessions, but we go on somehow with a grim fortitude which the public never appreciates. I expect that long after the Tolmie Government has been forgotten and the Depression has become a vague story of antiquity, a doddering old man with a long white beard will totter up the steep stairs to the press gallery, assisted by two page boys, and will whisper hoarsely to his companions that he used to remember the House when it actually was worried by the problem of unemployment and deficits. The young fellows will grin at him, and say, "Your fellow has been suffering from hallucinations lately. The old fellow will be I. But you, fortunate reader, will have been buried long ago. You will be spared what I write about the Legislature then."

BEAUTEUS ODE

MEANWHILE the occasion of the House opening is worthy of an ode, such as poets laureate used to write in the good old days every time the King opened Parliament or took a bath. I couldn't write an ode, but a gentleman has supplied one for me, a lovely graceful thing which he says he picked up in Oregon years ago; yet the handwriting seems to me curiously like that of my old friend, the late Charlie Gibbons, whom every Canadian newspaper man and politician knew in his time. It also sounds like Charlie and it runs as follows:

I've got a letter, Parson, from my son away
An' my 'ole heart is heavy as an anvil on
My 'ole heart.
To think the boy whose future I had once
So proudly planned,
Should come to such an end!
Bill made a faithful promise to be keener,
An' 'd build a reputation that'd make us
Mighty proud.
But it's a shame though my counsel sort of
Faded from his mind.
An' now the boy's in trouble of the very Kind that I've seen in
His letters come so seldom that I somehow Sorely know.
That Billy was a trampin' on a mighty
Bed never once imagined he would bow my
An' in the dust'd waller his o' daddy's
Honored name.

He writes from out in Denver an' the story's
I just can't tell his mother; it'll crush her
And so I reckoned, Parson, you might break
The news to her.
That Billy's in the legislature, but he doesn't Say what fur.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS of British Columbia, having discovered what everyone else has always known and what no politician denies, that the objects of governments in selling liquor is to sell as much as it is possible to everybody, young and old, having made that discovery, temperance workers asked the government to spend part of the profits on these sales to educate people against drink. One likes to speculate on what would happen if this excellent scheme were adopted.

ON THE MORNING of February 23, 1933, Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe, Minister of Education, received a large delegation of temperance workers. "We are glad to report," says the spokesman of the delegation, "that your campaign of temperance education has been a splendid success, Mr. Minister. We find that as a result of twenty years' intensive training in temperance no one in British Columbia now drinks anything stronger than sarsaparilla, and we hope that, with another twenty years of education, even that vice may be eradicated. But for this purpose we would like an increased appropriation for temperance education next year." "This," says Mr. Hinchcliffe, "is very gratifying. It is a splendid tribute to the statesmanship of the Tolmie Government. Whatever you may say of the other department's, the department of education is a proved success."

JUST THEN the sound of running feet and heavy breathing is heard in the hall outside. There is a piercing scream. Mr. Jones, the Minister of Finance, is hurrying through the door, his collar torn half off, his hair disheveled, his eyes blood-shot and rolling from side to side. "Hold everything!" shouts Mr. Jones. "I have just received the annual report of the Liquor Board and there are no liquor profits at all! Centenaires, prepare for a great shock. This province is bankrupt!" He swoons. But the government solves the problem in statesmanlike fashion. "As there is no money to pay for any education, people start to drink liquor again; and as liquor profits come in, the government is able to finance a campaign of education in favor of the drinking of

THE LITTLE GIRL from next door came trudging over here just now in her high gum boots, and when I saw their condition I made her remove them and enter my house in her stocking feet. "You know how I got my gum boots so dirty?" she asked. "I got them dirty tramping around in the pumure at Mr. Pudbury's. We been hauling pumure to put on Mr. Pudbury's corn field, 'cause pumure it makes corn grow something grand. I wonder why it does, eh? Well, what I wanted to tell you wasn't about the pumure. No, I wanted to tell you about Tim. You remember my dog Tim, what we had to give to some people in Victoria 'cause he so many chickens when they weren't looking?"

WELL, I WANT to see Tim yesterday at his new house and he wagged his tail so hard I thought it would break off and he jumped up and licked all over my face. So we had a long talk. "How do you like it in the city, Tim?" I say. "Well, he says, 'it's comfortable in this flat, 'cause it's so nice and warm and they feed me tumps of sugar 'cause they're very rich people. But I miss the country,' he says. 'What way?' I say. 'Oh, he says, 'I miss the smells out there.' (You remember how Tim was always holding up his nose and smelling of everything?) 'Yes, he says, 'there was smells out there what you don't get in here. I used to like to smell the birds and the horses and old Pudbury's barns. There is smells for a real dog,' he says. 'Those smells was like music to me, so nice and sweet in my nose. But in here you can only smell automobiles, what don't smell very good when you're behind them, and polish what they put on their shoes and perfume. You know what?' Tim says. 'They even put perfume on me after my bath and I kept running away from myself all day but can't get away from that perfume. It makes me feel like a girl, so I went and rolled in a puddle. And you know what? They bathed me all over again and put some more perfume on me. If this keeps up I'm going run away back to the country where you got some nice country smells.' So maybe Tim he'll come some day and we can help Mr. Pudbury with the pumure like we used to."

PROSPECTOR

TO THE EDITOR—In case any misconception should exist, the Vancouver Island Prospectors' Association desires to state that it was formed by prospectors and mining men with the object of assisting the prospector and directing interest to our mining resources, but it is in no sense a business organization and its objects are purely educational and protective. It is not the purpose of the association to urge men to go prospecting, but in case they should wish to do so, its object is to give every assistance, and for this reason the classes and lectures now being given were undertaken.

THE INQUISITIVE ONE PER CENT TAX

I see that the Conservative government are refunding unjustly collected taxes to some 20,000 wage-earners. In the police court, the taking of money which one is not entitled to, is known as theft, robbery or false pretences. My reduced wages last year were $800, my exemptions $1,000 and my employer had to turn in to the government $8 of my money. It will be some months before I get this back, which means that the government have been holding my money for eighteen months or so, and although they know what my wages are they are still collecting this one per cent.

Now, wage earners, there will be an election this summer. Let us get together and vote this pirate band right off the map. We can do it. But in voting for a Liberal candidate or whom you will have a clear understanding that your man will do away with this tax.

Think of the expense of returning this wrongfully acquired money. No sane government would dream of putting through such a ridiculous measure. The truth of the matter is, that they are so short of money by reason of their wilful extravagance, that they hit upon this method of borrowing without interest, from the men and women who could least afford it.

GUARD OF HONOR
To The Editor—In your issue of February 21 you published a letter over the signature of a Mr. B. S. Jackson, in which the writer disseminates a certain amount of misinformation in respect to the guards of honor furnished by the N.P.A.M. units for the opening of the Provincial Legislature.

If Mr. Jackson read his Times more closely, or if his memory were better, he would recall that the grants he mentions were disbursed over a year ago. Both the Canadian Scottish Regiment and the 5th (B.C. Coast) Brigade carry out their duties in this connection without one cent of expense to the public.

Furthermore, if Mr. Jackson realized the amount of work done by all the N.P.A.M. units to help out their unemployed members with what scanty regimental funds they have, the bulk of which come from private sources, and not from the government, he would probably be glad to contribute to them himself.

In justice to the officers, N.C.O.'s and men who give so readily of their time and ability to carry out these duties, it is felt that this reply to your correspondent is necessary.

A DICTATOR

TO THE EDITOR—As Diogenes looked in Athens for a man, so is the human race now looking for a dictator. The people whose faith in the various forms of government is waning, clamor for a leader. Many believe that a strong man, a superman, could solve the burning questions of the day, like realizing that the remedy would prove to be worse than the ailment. What is the cause of the troubles of this age, and what is the cure? What is the evil we suffer from and which releases gnaws at our systems and ruins them? Whatever newspaper we pick up we find that they all regret the evil as it exists to-day; they all deplore it, but none one suggests the real remedy. We find fault with the leaves and with the branches, but we ignore the root. If we venture to attack the cause, the race has failed morally we expose ourselves to a storm of indignation, and yet turning to those same newspapers, it makes one shudder to read the records of ever-increasing financial and social scandals perpetrated in our highly civilized countries. Who can doubt it that his social corruption is hitting humanity in the most vital parts of its conscience and soul?

Then we have the system of education without God, which also greatly contributes to the decline of the moral standard just where and when it is most necessary to be held high; the worst corruption being always that of the best. For several decades incredulity has been sown lavishly in the world over; the fear of God, a fear that worship, adores and obeys God of love, has been wrongly described as a cringing, unworthy, slavish submission to an arbitrary God. And now we are reaching what he sowed, and eminently so in the moral and spiritual sphere! In many schools incredulity is openly propagated; in many churches also, but more subtly, and therefore more dangerously, in many homes, too, through the inexcusable ignorance and indifference of the parents of the most elementary truths of Christianity.

Under these circumstances to wish for a dictator is like courting disaster, for the mentality of such a dictator would necessarily be warped by the prevailing trend of mind, to wit: A man without God, described by the Apostle Paul in "The Thessalonians" as "the lawless one, who will come, that shall be revealed," even Him whose coming is after the working of Satan with all lying wonders! Such a man would lead us where Lenin has

NO MORE AID TO CUMBERLAND

Hon. J. Hinchliffe Says Reduce Expenditures Way to Balance School Budget

Special to The Times
Cumberland, Feb. 23.—Cumberland can look for no further assistance from the Department of Education, Hon. J. Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, notified the city council on Monday evening. The school estimates were rejected at the last regular meeting to comply with school law, although expenses had been cut and salaries reduced one-fourth. In the meantime an appeal for assistance was sent to the Department of Education. The minister replied that the government was in exactly the same position. He suggested the city charge fees for children of non-tax-paying residents and reduce expenditures until covered by income.

Final disposal of the school estimates awaits action by the school trustees, who presented their arguments through Dr. G. K. MacNaughton, M.P.P.

Discussion of cases for relief brought up the point "when is a man destitute?" The city clerk told the council that he always made the responsibility in respect to this clause very clear to applicants before they signed the affidavit. The cases for relief were left over until the next meeting.

EXPERT --testimony

From The Vancouver Sun, February 10, 1933

VALUE IN B.C. COAL

BETTER BUY THAN IMPORTED FUEL, SAYS EXPERT

There is a good British Columbia coal for every purpose, and if the right one is selected and used properly it will give better value to the consumer than any coal from elsewhere. This is the opinion of J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, told members of the Lions Club at luncheon in Hotel Georgia Thursday.

Coal dealers as a whole might be giving better service to their customers in advice as to the best coal adapted to different requirements and as to the best methods of getting full heat value. Several of the dealers are giving this progressive service and take service and advice and thus save money while using a home product to the benefit of B.C. coal miners, Mr. Galloway declared.

Seventy cents of every dollar spent on B.C. coal goes to pay wages, and thus benefits the whole mercantile community.

The speaker advised use of the newer automatic stokers to get the best value from coal. It would mean a saving of 25 per cent in fuel bills as compared with fuel oil.

He also advised that gas furnaces, with their recent improvements, are perhaps best of all for those who prefer to use other fuel than coal. They are generally more efficient and satisfactory than other automatic furnaces and cost no more to produce the same heating service. And as the gas is made entirely from B.C. coal this is an additional reason why it should be given preference.

"The B.C. coal committee, of which I am secretary, does not ask you to use B.C. coal as a matter of sentiment. It is a definitely better buy than any imported coal. Coal is the greatest single resource of our province, and it is not being utilized as it should be in the community," Mr. Galloway concluded.

President E. C. Robinson introduced the speaker, and Mrs. George Smith, popular "Lioness," contributed much applauded advice.

Start Made On Copying Roll

Assessor's Department at City Hall Has Big Task In Preparing New Books.

Clerks in the office of city assessment commissioner have started the quinquennial job of copying out the city's whole assessment roll, which must be completed by the end of this year in order to be ready for the 1935 assessments.

This is no mean task as it involves writing the names of owners, descriptions and location of 21,150 pieces of property in the city. All of this must be done twice, first for a set of six huge volumes known as "rough books" in which the annual assessment is made, and second in twenty-four volumes which form the assessment roll and which contain a separate sheet for each piece of property.

The job falls this year owing to the fact that the present roll will expire with the valuations for 1934, on which the assessor is now working. It is five years since the roll was copied last.

Under a new system of keeping the rough roll it will be possible to enter assessments for eight years instead of five on the same set, so the job will not have to be done again until 1942.

Ernest H. Parry Thinks Debt and Currency Conferences May Open Way For Recovery

Suggests Silver Might Be Substituted For Gold As Basis of International Credit

"It is the first step towards solving the world's problems in which sanity will be allowed to play its part," said Ernest H. Parry, London financier, in discussing the forthcoming international conferences which are expected to play a big part in lifting the nations out of the economic depression.

Mr. Parry, who is closely in touch with world financial affairs, yesterday granted an interview at the Empress Hotel, the first he has given since his arrival in Canada from London.

"We have got to get above politics if we are going to solve the world's problems, which are without precedent in history," said Mr. Parry.

"The time has arrived when we cannot part with that we haven't got, and which we are prevented from getting by tariff barriers."

He spoke of Great Britain and the manner in which she had risen to meet her obligations.

VALUELESS GOLD

The progress of the world to-day, the financier contended, is being retarded by the colossal hoarding of gold by two of the great powers. The United States and France, he said, have $1,600,000,000, or two-thirds of the world's gold supply, stored away in vaults.

"This vast amount of gold has been withdrawn from circulation and is valueless to anybody," remarked Mr. Parry. "It is worse than valueless because the fact that it is so lying idle, is injuring the world. It has been withdrawn from the world's industries, and the world's industries, as everyone knows, are run on credit."

HOW TO DISGORGE

"The question is, how are we going to get them to disgorge this large amount of gold. It can only be achieved by a return to sanity on their part," he said, referring to the gold hoarders.

"If this vast amount of gold was in the hands of Great Britain," he went on, "it would not be hoarded, but would be passed around the world to keep moving the wheels of industry and trade."

Mr. Parry observed that the statement of to-day carried a great responsibility. The position in which the world finds itself at the present time, he added, required calm judgment and not a little vision.

SILVER CREDIT AS BASIS

"It is inconceivable for Great Britain to abandon her position under present conditions," said Mr. Parry when questioned regarding the possibility of a return to the gold standard. "Why cannot silver be substituted for gold as a new basis for world credit?" he asked.

Much is expected in Great Britain from the war debts conference and also from the world conference called to deal with the stabilization of currency, he said.

THE BRITISH PEOPLE ARE KEEPING THEIR CHINS UP AND ARE CARRYING ON AS IF THE DEPRESSION DID NOT EXIST. THERE IS NO DOUBT ABOUT THE ATTITUDE OF BRITISHERS ON THE QUESTION OF EMPIRE TRADE. THEY ARE ALL FOR IT, SAID MR. PARRY.

He said an extensive campaign had been undertaken throughout the United Kingdom urging the people to buy goods produced within the Empire. The suggestion was put forth by the financier that a similar campaign in Canada might bring results.

HERE TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. Parry also recalled that the last time he was in Victoria was about twenty-five years ago. "I stayed at the Bay Hotel, the Empress Hotel then being under construction," he said. "Some remarkable changes have taken place here within a quarter of a century."

WILL TALK ON RUSSIAN PLAN

Canadian Who Was Employed For Two Years By Soviet Grain Trust To Be Heard

A lecture that should be of great interest to all who wish to secure a fair opinion on Russia will be given in the City Temple March 1, when C. C. Holland, a native-born Canadian who was instructor for two years for the Moscow State Grain Trust, will speak on the famous Five-year Plan. Mr. Holland is a skilled mechanic by trade and an expert in all kinds of agricultural and industrial machinery.

Mr. Holland, who went to the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in November, 1929, and worked there until December, 1931, saw a great deal of the country, having been at Moscow, Kharkov in the Ukraine, Feodosia in the Crimea and Omsk in Siberia, as well as in the great collective farms on the steppes.

He thus has credentials to justify his speaking on the manner in which the 132,000,000 peasants of Russia think and feel. He is reported to believe the system under which the Russian people are compelled to work is not one which Canadians would or should adopt.

Mr. Holland bears an excellent recommendation signed by Popoff, manager of the Foreign Bureau, which reads as follows: "Herby the Foreign Bureau of the Grain Trust of U.S.S.R. wishes to certify that Mr. C. C. Holland has been employed in the system of the Grain Trust from November, 1929, till December, 1931. His services have been rendered to the Zernostrovo have been very satisfactory. His countless suggestions on tractors and combines and on other agricultural implements are greatly appreciated, and have brought economy and increased production on our grain farms. Mr. Holland, in performing his assigned duties, was very conscientious and enthusiastic. His attitude towards his duties can be an example for all our workers."

Mr. Holland's lecture will commence at 8:15 o'clock next Wednesday evening. A certain number of reserved seats will be on sale at Fletcher Bros. Music Store. Admission charges will be 50c to 1.00, and 25c for children under 12.

LONDONERS TAKE TO GOAT'S MILK

Neu's Special to The Victoria Times
London.—Negotiations have been started for giving London a regular supply of goat's milk, and according to Mr. H. E. Jeffery, the secretary of the British Goat Society, it is hoped to arrange daily distribution throughout London before long. The milk will, however, be distributed in bottles or cartons, and not in the picturesque manner of continental cities, where the goat-herd drives his flock through the streets and milks one on demand.

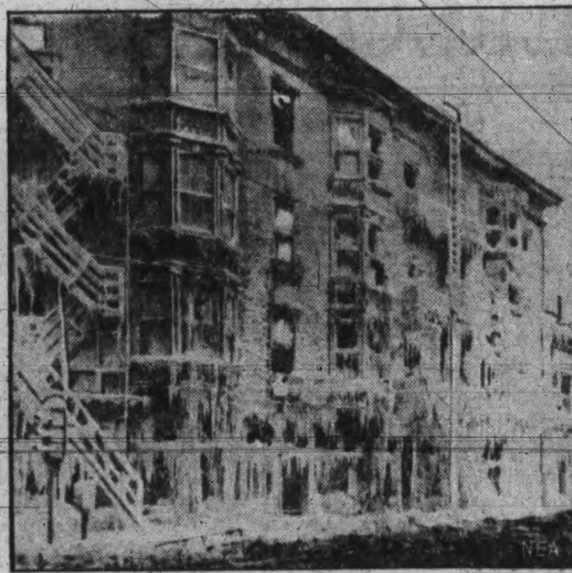

Goat's milk is very popular in country districts for children and people with weak digestion. It is free from any tuberculous germs and is richer than cow's milk though it is easier to digest. Although the common goat goes "dry" for a part of the year, the pedigree goat milks the whole year through and gives over a gallon a day.

LIFE IS FULL OF CONTRASTS

Jobless to Be Whirled to Sleep As It Were With Cheap Fun at "Bike" Races

BY GILBERT SWAN
New York, Feb. 23.—Some buddy who can spare the time will be able this year to live more cheaply at the six-day bike races than in a Bowery flop house. The admission fee, along with other prices, has dropped to 40 cents per duct. Which insures a rent some shelter, warmth, a sleeping bench and a certain amount of excitement if you like that sort of game.

A ticket has value between the hours of 4 o'clock one day and 5 o'clock the next, thus making $2.40 a six-day rental.

But it isn't quite so amusing to contemplate the humans who have to seek out warmth and shelter in the park zone. You see, the animals must be sheltered and kept warm during the cold weather. Certain snakes, for instance, require certain temperatures. So the city provides animal houses in Central Park and the Bronx zone.

So the snakes and pumas and leopards and such have comfortable headquarters, while humans who might otherwise freeze must share the quarters of the beasts. Some come prepared to spend the day and wander from one animal house to another.

I happened by the other day when the animals were being fed. Two puny, haggard, rickety youngsters were tugging at the hands of a bearded looking man. No words passed. The children looked blankly at the food and then at their father. Obviously there was no bread for them.

Sing Sing prison, by the way, now gets some of the best entertainment furnished by the Broadway belt. It seems that Owey Madden, erstwhile figure in beer and night club and tax difficulties, is not forgotten by the floor show folk who sing, dance and yodel in the Broadway late spots. Tomorrow, the actors know, will be another day and Madden will not have lost any general amount of his night life power while vacationing "up the river."

On Sundays, entire floor shows of the big and prominent places have been moved to Sing Sing to "keep the old boy amused."

RYDER STILL HAS HIS PARTIES

Russell Ryder has been another Sing Sing figure responsible for much jail and action in the famous prison. Ryder was one of the biggest spending playboys of the Gay White Way. When the market was bouncing like an uncertain soap bubble, Ryder staged one of the many phenomenal killings. His brokerage firm cleaned up millions.

The hefty, gold-lined Ryder tossed $100,000 about as jugglers toss Indian clubs. Band maestros were his particular favorites. He would cross many a palm just to take the baton for a second. Now that he is "up the river," the bandmen do not forget. Several shows have been organized to give Ryder a "party."

Liberals Open Campaign For Recruits; Victory at Polls Foreseen

A strong campaign in preparation for the forthcoming provincial election will be initiated forthwith by the Oak Bay Liberal Association. At a well-attended meeting held yesterday evening, at the Liberal headquarters, arrangements were made for circulation of printed pledge forms, to which all present agreed to secure signatures. The association will meet hereafter on the first and third Mondays in each month at the Liberal headquarters, Broughton and Government Streets.

J. B. Clearinghouse spoke briefly upon the necessity of all members working if the party was to be restored to power. He was confident that the outlook for Liberalism in Oak Bay had greatly improved since the last provincial elections.

Major S. P. M. Moodie, Liberal organizer, expressed confidence that the present provincial government would not be in office much longer. He contrasted the brilliance of the Oliver administration with the conditions which have developed in British Columbia under Conservative policies.

SEEK MEMBERS IN OAK BAY

Touche upon the franchise, Major Moodie urged close scrutiny of voters, as lack of attention to this duty might result in disfranchisement of many Liberal voters.

Alderman W. H. Kinsman, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, said there was no possibility of the Liberal Party sharing in the formation of a coalition government in British Columbia. He quoted the leaders of the party to prove that such a contingency as Liberal participation in a union government would not be countenanced.

BUTTONS BRIGHTER IN NEW FASHIONS

Children's buttons are being brightened up. One idea is to paint a teddy bear's head or a flower on them. I hope the scheme catches on. Really tiny children will love buttons like that.

MANY ATTEND GOLF CABARET

Specialty Dancing and Singing Featured Social Event at Empress Hotel

Heavy Reservations Made For Second Cabaret on Saturday Evening

The great interest which is being shown in the winter golf tournament was demonstrated yesterday evening by the large group of dancers attending the initial cabaret of the week's entertainment programme. Parties were made up by visiting golfers and Victoria players and a most enjoyable time was spent by the guests.

Dancing continued from 9 to 1 o'clock in the ballroom with William Tickle's augmented orchestra supplying the latest dance music. Large bowls of plum blossom, daffodils and daisies gave a touch of spring to the ballroom. The front of the orchestra dais being a bower of flowers.

The several feature cabaret numbers were enthusiastically received by the guests. Miss Doreen Wilson and a group of dancers from the Russian Ballet School appeared in a Chinese song and dance, "The Chinese Song," which was a delightful surprise. Miss Ruth Van Valey, brilliant dancer, was given a vociferous reception for her "orchestra dance." The vivacious colors of her startling costume realistically simulated flames and flames and flames.

Mr. Durigan Finds Relief in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Here is his enthusiastic letter: "Am 70 years of age, and for 40 of these years there never was a week but what I had to take a pill or some kind of cathartic."

"I took everything, but gained only temporary relief. Until last spring my daughter, who is a nurse in a hospital, brought me some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"At the end of the week, I knew I had something that was it, and I kept on taking it. I haven't taken a cathartic since. I can eat meat any time, as often as I like, or any other kind of food, and no constipation." Mr. L. M. Durigan. (Address furnished upon request.)

Laboratory tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help muscle tone. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much safer than patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

MOTHER MUST DETERMINE BENEFITS OF AMUSEMENTS FOR CHILD

On almost every subject of any moment there are always many opinions. Everyone views a subject from an individual and personal standpoint and draws conclusions on that basis. Recently there has been a great deal of discussion over the radio programmes for children. They have been criticised from the standpoint of unhealthy excitement, of their unattractiveness, and also from the children's ridiculous devotion to them.

This is purely an expression of my own opinion, since radio programmes are a new type of amusement for anyone to have scientifically charted their benefits or menaces. Because of that, the question of whether a child shall be allowed or forbidden to listen to them is purely an individual one. Any mother whose child experiences unhealthy excitement, fatigue or fear over such programmes can exercise her motherly prerogative and the strength in her good right forefinger and turn off the offending programme.

For, by and large, there is a great difference in children's reactions to the programmes. Some children are bored, some interested, some amused and some highly excited. But this is equally true of almost everything, even play, which stimulates some children to a high degree of excitement. Must we, then, do away with play? No, we must take note of all the factors influencing the child, both physical and environmental, and try to correct those. Radio programmes are just one factor, not the sole cause of the child's emotional state.

EXCITING
Radio programmes are intended to be exciting. Knowing this, we must decide whether this vicious excitement is any more dangerous to the child than for him to go out and stir up excitement and participate in it. Unless we shut up a child within four walls and feed him over the top of them, he is certain to discover that life has emotional aspects and that his emotional equipment has its legitimate uses.

Some of the programmes have no viable benefit, yet much harmless entertainment is on that level. If the programme is definitely bad, individual mothers may protest to the specific station, the numbers of such protest giving weight to them. In the homes the mothers can concoct other amusements for the children at that hour. Mother may refuse also to buy the products sponsored by the offending programmes. With three such powerful weapons at hand, why should the children dissipate their anger in useless haranguing against radio in general?

MOTHER MUST JUDGE
The whole subject resolves itself into a mother's recognition of what is good for her child. The mother knows her child. She knows by experience the amusements best suited to him and she holds it within her power to exercise control over them.

As for evening programmes designed for adults, the mothers who make the most fuss about them should see that their children are in bed at the proper hours. The whole trend of our times has been to reduce every kind of amusement, the stage, the motion pictures, and books to the level of what is good for the children. Instead there should be a differentiation between children's amusements and adult amusements with the mother herself acting as a protection to her children against unsuitable types.

CO-OPERATE TO BOOST CITY

Addressing the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening, George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, made an appeal for the preservation of Island beauty spots.

He described various holiday resorts and points of attraction, illustrating his remarks with several beautiful colored slides as well as three motion pictures entitled, "The Island of Enchantment," "Fighting Steelheads" and "Game Sanctuary."

Mr. Warren urged co-operation with the publicity bureau and Chamber of Commerce in gaining world-wide recognition for Victoria as an outstanding residential city.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 23.—One of the most brilliant functions of the sessional months was held yesterday evening in the Parliament Buildings, when the wives of the Cabinet ministers held their annual reception for the members of the Senate and their wives and daughters and the members of the House of Commons and their wives and daughters and others of the official set of the capital.

The reception was held in the central court opening into the noted Hall of Fame. The hostesses of the evening stood in a semi-circle in this court, with an effective background, formed of draped flags and bankings of palms and ferns.

Those receiving were Lady Perley, wife of Sir George Perley; Mrs. Edgar N. Rhodes, wife of the Minister of Finance; Mrs. H. H. Stevens, wife of the Minister of Trade and Commerce; Mrs. R. J. St. Andrew's W.M.S.—The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. was held on Monday, with a good attendance. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. McIntosh. Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Eldridge took the devotional part of the meeting. Home helpers being guests were welcomed by Mrs. Brown. The guest-speaker was Mrs. D. Thompson, formerly a Baptist deaconess in the foreign part of North Winnipeg. In a very interesting way she told of the Ukrainian, Hebrew and Russian who had settled in this district. A great many of these people are being taught in mission schools and are making good Canadian citizens. Miss McGowan of St. Paul's Church, accompanied by Mrs. Jeffery, sang a lovely solo. At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by all.

The weekly session of the "Obypa" club was held on Tuesday evening, when some forty members issued out to hear the guest speaker, Postmaster O. Gardiner in an interesting address on the modern postal system. He told of its origin, progress, until its present high state of efficiency, and of the intricate journeys of letters leaving Victoria for isolated parts of the Empire and foreign countries. Of various postal unions of foreign countries and how the rates were governed, etc. The convener of the evening, David Scott, voiced the sentiments of the club in thanking Mr. Gardiner for his very interesting and entertaining talk.

NO VOTES FOR QUEBEC WOMEN

Perennial Bill Again Defeated in Legislature: Six Months' Hoist

Quebec, Feb. 23.—A bill, to give women of this province the right to vote in Quebec elections, met defeat in the Quebec Legislative Assembly yesterday.

Defeat came by way of a six-months' hoist, moved by Dr. Ernest Poudlin (Liberal, Montreal-Laurier), as an amendment to a motion by Dr. Anatole Plante (Liberal, Montreal-Mercier), that the bill be given second reading.

The six-months' hoist was upheld by a vote, fifty-three to twenty. Party lines were forgotten, and even the Cabinet of Premier L. A. Taschereau was divided when vote was called on this perennial bill.

Montreal, Feb. 23.—Defeat in the legislative assembly yesterday of a bill to give Quebec women the vote in provincial elections was received without surprise by feminist leaders here. There was, however, some difference of opinion as to how the question should have been submitted to the legislature. The bill lost by a vote of 53 to 20. Last year it was defeated 52 to 20.

After the main business was concluded, J. Aylwin addressed the branch on the subject of a recreational camp at Artaban, receiving the views of the members on the subject. Later Mr. Aylwin exhibited some lantern slides of places of interest on the Canadian Pacific Railway.

WOMAN KILLED BY MOVING TRAIN

Gull Lake, Sask., Feb. 23.—Either falling or stepping from a moving passenger train after she had clung to the hand rails of a sleeping coach for five miles, Mrs. R. J. Benn, resident of Webb, Sask., met death to-day in the railway yards at Antelope, flag station on the Canadian Pacific Railway main line between here and Webb.

This was the picture presented to a coroner's jury at an inquest into the woman's death. A verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury.

CHAPTER XX

"You've got plenty of time, miss. That was Simon, grinning at Susan and helping her out of the car."

"Thanks. You did that beautifully," she told him, feeling conspicuous with her armful of flowers. She went to sit on one of the benches outside the station. Just as she sat down, a girl in white flannel with a great Russian wolfhound on a leash, pacing up and down. There was something familiar about the set of the beautiful little head under the rakish, white hat. When the girl turned her profile Susan knew her at once. It was Denise Ackroyd. Deliberately Susan looked the other way. She could not quite forgive the girl for having interrupted her and Bob Dunbar at luncheon. The old pain began to throb in her breast.

"I was so happy a moment ago," Susan thought resentfully. "Why need she remind me of him? I was trying to forget."

Irresistibly her eyes were drawn back to the straight, graceful figure. At that moment Denise's gaze met hers. She bowed frigidly and moved away.

"Wonder if her family know she goes with the Strinskys' crowd?" Susan reflected, thinking disdainfully of that social message which Ben had introduced her. She buried her face in the roses as the train roared into the station.

Susan found herself a seat in an almost empty coach. Through the window caught a glimpse of Denise casually embracing a tall, blond young man, carrying golf sticks. Unaccountably her heart lightened. In the back of her mind all this time, unacknowledged, had lain the fear that Denise might be the unnamed charmer in Bob's life. It did not seem so hard to lose him to someone she had never seen. A real flesh and blood rival was more terrifying. "Perhaps it isn't true," Susan thought.

She wondered where Bob was and when he was returning. How strange that he had not even written her a line! She had watched the mails day after day until pride had come to her rescue. Then the dream had died and more than one night the pillow had been wet with tears.

She dismissed all this now resolutely and began to think of other things—the house she had just left and her employer with his man's aesthetic face and quizzical eyes. Surely Ernest Heath had everything to be desired—wealth, position, friends and that beautiful house and garden. She could hear herself describing it to Bob or to Jessie. And Denise would snort at what she called "fol-de-ral," but she would be impressed just the same.

However, it was Ray Flannery who first heard the story of Susan's visit. "My eye! Flowering where are you going with that girl?" Ray shrieked, meeting Susan in the hall.

Susan turned a blooming face. "Aren't they lovely?" she asked.

"They're from Mr. Heath's garden. I had to go out there to take dictation. He's laid up."

Ray whistled softly. "Getting a stand in?" he inquired. "I'll bet the missus didn't pick those for your teaspoon."

Susan smiled with dignity. "One of the maids did. Mr. Heath told her to."

Ray whistled. "One of the maids?"

name he uttered nor could she restrain the warm color that flooded her cheeks.

"It was young Bob Dunbar," Jack Waring said. "And he was asking for you."

"Bob Dunbar?" As in a dream she answered.

"Yes. The old man wants some sort of Elizabethan shack out at Half Day, you know, and Heath told me to run over and give him a line on it."

"No I didn't know," Outwardly Susan was composed, but that throb of her blood told the tale.

"He's a handsome devil, isn't he?" pursued Waring. Where'd you meet him?"

She kept her fingers steady on the keys.

Uncle Wiggily's Wonderful Find

By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily looked at Baby Bunty and the little orphan rabbit looked at Mr. Longears. Bunty was somewhat out of breath for she had run fast to meet Uncle Wiggily and was dragging her sled behind her like little Bo Peep's sheep's tails.

Uncle Wiggily was almost as much excited as was the orphan bunny child, for she had told him some wonderful news and, if he should find it was true, why, there would be much happiness. Not that Baby Bunty would say something that wasn't true, but she might make a mistake, Mr. Longears thought. So he asked her:

"Are you sure, Bunty, that you have found a hill of snow carrots?"

"Oh, yes, Uncle Wig," Bunty answered, sitting down on her sled. "I was out coasting and I didn't want to go over on the big hill where all the other animal children are sliding down. I wanted to be off by myself."

"Because I wanted a little peace and quiet," Bunty answered.

VALUES HIS LOVE AT MILLION

Estimating the value of her husband's love at $1,000,000, Mrs. Grace Williamson Willett, left, Chicago society leader, filed suit for that amount against Mrs. Mary Cave Hall, also of Chicago, charging alienation of the affections of her husband, Howard L. Willett, right. Mrs. Hall is a wealthy widow. Willett is president of Chicago's largest trucking company. All are prominent in U.S. society.

Mount View High School Notes

Another delightful concert was staged by the Mount View Junior Arts in the school auditorium Friday afternoon. A piano solo, entitled "Flower Song" by Doreen Briggs, was followed by a recitation, "The Enchanted Shroud," by Paul Ayres; a vocal duet, "Twilight Shadows," by Florence and Jean Aschiton, accompanied by Margaret McKinnon; humorous poem, "Betty's Prayer," by Marguerite Lowe; a violin solo by Muriel Graham, and piano duet by Edith and Lucy Harding.

The commercial section of Mount View is busily engaged in making preparations for their first annual dance, which is to be held in the school auditorium on Friday, February 24, in honor of ex-pupils. Many tickets for outsiders have been issued and the affair promises to be a great success.

On Thursday, February 16, the members of the History Club, under the supervision of Miss M. Beane, visited the Parliament Buildings, with the object of obtaining information

Don't let illness pull him down!

When your boy is building up and keeping well it is such a pity to let an illness undo years of sound growth. Too frequently measles, diphtheria, mumps and whooping cough bring the sturdiest children low.

Give him SCOTT'S EMULSION regularly. It saves the weakening strain of growth by building the body and feeding the bones. It maintains resistance to disease germs by enriching the blood. In that way it helps to ward off infections that attack the throat and lungs.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is a valuable aid in keeping coughs, colds and illness away. It gives your boy a better chance of steady growth and vigorous health. Don't wait until he is ailing—get a bottle now and save trouble later on.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Making a Newspaper

PICTURES
The story of a picture in a newspaper is not a simple one. It may start in China, and it may end when the picture is before your eyes; but in between those two points are facts not known to the general public.

Corner of an engraving room. Either lifting plate from acid bath.

Suppose, for example, that General Chang has done something of importance—ordered his soldiers to fight a battle, fallen into trouble with other Chinese leaders, or died. Within a few hours you may read about him, and may see his picture in the paper. You understand that the news was cabled, but how did the picture get there?

It is barely possible that the picture was telegraphed; but that is not very likely. The marvelous deed of engraving, or even telephoning, a picture has been done many times; but the usual fact is that the picture was in the newspaper office, before the event happened.

The modern newspaper contains a large file of pictures, and this collection is called "the morgue." It contains pictures of famous men, of women who live in all parts of the world. When one of those persons gets into the news, the morgue comes to life and supplies a picture.

Other pictures in newspapers are taken by staff photographers. A local fire or the visit of a noted man is likely to be recorded with a picture. The photograph must be turned into an engraving; and some newspapers have their own engraving plants. The lights and shadows of a picture are transferred to a metal plate.

Even when the picture is not ready for newspaper printing, it must be turned into a matrix, or "mat," and from that cardboard stage back to a metal stage which I shall describe more in detail on Friday.

NERVOUS WOMEN

Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly." "My nerves are all on edge." "I have been so nervous for so long that I can't sleep." "I have been so nervous for so long that I can't eat." "I have been so nervous for so long that I can't do anything." "I have been so nervous for so long that I can't live."

These are the words of many women who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For nearly sixty years women have taken this strength and vigor.

95 out of every 100 women who report to us say that they are benefited by this medicine. Buy a bottle from your druggist today... and watch the results.

HOW TO GET RID OF ACID STOMACH

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This trouble so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in sour stomach, indigestion, headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will relieve your acid stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person.

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet contains a full teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Are Parents to Blame for Youth's Refusal to Live Plainly?—Wall Flower Whose Family Refuses to Accept Her Fate—Is Sixteen Too Young to Marry?

DEAR MISS DIX—People are always saying that the young people of to-day are not willing to start in life as their fathers and mothers started. Don't you think that this is often due to their parents? A REGULAR READER.

Answer—It is due to their parents and life in general, for we are all products of our own age and slaves to the habits that have been bred in us.

It is, of course, true that young people are not willing to start where their parents did, and that if they were willing to live as plainly and simply as their fathers and mothers did we would not hear so many girls and boys walling out that they cannot afford to marry.

When mother and father married they commenced housekeeping in a couple of rooms or a tiny cottage. Mother did all of the cooking and washing and scrubbing. They had kerosene lamps. She went to market with a basket on her arm and she thought she was lucky if she had a black silk dress for best that would last her three or four years.

And father mowed the lawn and swept the sidewalk and helped with the chores around the house and neither one ever any more thought of having a horse and buggy or going out to some place of amusement two or three times a week or of belonging to clubs or of giving cocktail parties than they thought of having diamond tiaras and going to Europe every summer.

And all of this was no hardship on mother and father, because it was just continuing the simple manner of life in which they had been brought up and because they were doing just what every other young couple of their acquaintance was doing. For in those days when a man and woman got married they settled down and didn't expect to have any livelier diversion than they found at their own fireside and in pushing the perambulator.

But the girl and boy of to-day who get married live in a different world, one in which "the young married set" is only too often the gayest and the most pleasure-loving set in the community. The bride nowadays doesn't retire to the kitchen. She hikes out to the beauty parlor and the little French shops. She has a dozen dresses which her mother had one and she generally is more adept in shaking up a drink than she is in performing on the gas range.

Same way with the man. He wants to step out just as much after marriage as he did before and he has no notion of getting his exercise by cutting the grass instead of playing golf. And no young couple would think that they could live without an automobile or going to the movies or any other of the diversions to which they have been accustomed.

We may say this is all foolish and wrong and the young people should start where their parents did, but it isn't easy to go backwards.

It isn't easy for a girl who has always had lots of pretty clothes to go shabby or for one who all of her life has ridden in an automobile to drag around in a street car. It isn't easy for the boy who has always had good clothes and been able to indulge himself in everything he wanted to have to wear hand-me-downs and count his pennies. It isn't easy for those who have always lived in beautiful surroundings to have to live in a shabby little house and eat plain meals.

And so it is no wonder that when so many young couples who have married on a shoestring and the proposition that love is enough, find themselves up against the hard realities of trying to scuffle along on an insufficient income, they declare that marriage is a failure and throw up their hands and quit. They are soft and spoiled and cannot stand the hardships that their parents made nothing of because they were used to them.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am one of those dateless girls and am so resigned to the situation that I wouldn't bother about it if it wasn't for my family. They have insisted upon my becoming a society debutante at which I am an utter misfit. I hate the social whirl. I don't speak the language of the girls I am thrown with and I can't enter into their conversation. I haven't the money to buy their interests by giving splendid entertainments. I wasn't cut out to be the life of the party, yet I am expected to keep up a gay, witty and entertaining conversation to amuse the man with whom I happen to be. Fathers don't ask me to dance with them, and when I rebel against all this my family say that I am silly and what a fine wholesome girl I am and, of course, people like me and admire me. What am I to do? E. T.

Answer—I don't think there is any more pathetic figure than the girl whose family try to force her into being a butterfly when she has none of the attributes of the butterfly and never feels at home in the raffish atmosphere in which they thrust her.

Perhaps mother was a belle in her day and she looks forward to living over her triumphs in poor little plain Mary Ann, who is shy and retiring with never a word to say for herself and who has no more sex appeal than a plate of oatmeal. Or perhaps mother is socially ambitious and depends on Mary Ann opening doors that are closed to her.

So she buys Mary Ann all sorts of pretty fluffy clothes that never for an instant disguise her Mary Ann-ness. And she makes Mary Ann go to every party to which she is invited, where she sits around on the sidelines suffering agonies of embarrassment and mortification because nobody ever dances with her except the unwilling youths whom a hostess drags up to her wearing the expressions of jamba being led to the slaughter.

And Mary Ann is a social flop and mother reproaches her with it and wonders why the boys never pay her any attention and why she doesn't get married.

It is a cruel and inhuman punishment for any woman to force her daughter to go "out in society," as the phrase goes, unless she wants to. Moreover, it is of no use, because unless the Lord gave a girl dancing feet no man is going to cut in on her, and unless Nature supplied her with it she can't manufacture it for herself.

Far wiser and kinder to let the girl find her own niche in the world. Let her go with the people who are congenial to her. Let her do the things she wants to do.

My advice to any girl who finds herself a misfit in society is to go to work. Get a job. Interest herself in that, and for her comfort—and also for mother's consolation—let her remember that a lot of the biggest fish swim around in business offices and rise to the bait of an intelligent quiet girl after they have fought shy of a dazzling, painted, vivacious one.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—We are two girls sixteen years old and engaged to be married. Are we too young? We will abide by your decision. TWO ANXIOUS-ONES.

Answer—At least four years too young. If you marry now you will be worn out old women by the time you are twenty. Don't throw away your youth. Don't miss out on a girl's playtime. It comes to her but once in life. DOROTHY DIX.

Horoscope

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 24, 1933

ominer planetary aspects dominate to-day, according to astrology. A day to beware of intrigues and deceptions.

On this day of the annual eclipse of the sun the configuration is threatening and disturbing. It is likely to affect individuals as well as nations.

There is a sign of danger in the air, of intrigue or diplomatic plotting, of international currencies, inflation and tariff effects will be discussed with bitterness if it forest.

In Great Britain as well as in the United States the question of widespread unemployment may reach a supreme crisis, as astrologers forecast.

Europe may be the scene of riots, for public health and food shortages will cause much turbulence, the seers prophesy. The prolonged stay of Mars in Virgo is read as menacing to the public health, and an epidemic of fever or cholera is indicated for foreign nations.

Trouble between the United States and Mexico is prophesied by a London astrologer, who foresees the overthrow of the Mexican Government.

St. Augustine, Jacksonville, Boston, Ottawa, Quebec and Halifax may feel the bad effects of the eclipse, it is predicted.

Despite the ill omens for to-day, there is a promising sign for all who seek employment. It is well to apply after the noon hour.

Men who have enjoyed success in earlier years now are subject to heavy influences. Many fortunes are to be rebuilt on strong foundations. It is a propitious day.

Change of the average point of view regarding money is advised by the seers, who counsel for young and old careful use of income, but they deprecate anything like extravagance or extravagance.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of many surprises. Unexpected happiness may bring good fortune.

Children born on this day probably will be ambitious and able to attain what is desired.

Those who have celebrated it as a birthday include John Hagerman, 1842, author; Thomas Paine, 1737, jurist, and General John Purdy, English soldier and dramatist, 1723.

MACDONALD NOT SKY-HEADING FOR U.S. ROADS

London, Feb. 23.—Premier MacDonald has made no definite arrangements to visit the United States in connection with the debt conference to be held next month. He indicated this in the Commons yesterday. "As you can see from the communiqué issued after conversations between Mr. Roosevelt and the British Ambassador in New York on Monday," he said, "these conversations will be resumed at an early date. It will be evident no arrangements regarding procedure can be made pending the outcome of these conversations." It has been suggested Mr. MacDonald go to Washington for a personal talk with Mr. Roosevelt before the debt conference begins.

Festival to Have Eminent Adjudicators

Noted Musicians Coming In April

CHORAL, VOCAL AND PIANO JUDGES

Dr. J. F. Staton, George Dodds and York Bowen Have Great Records in Old Country

Prof F. G. C. Wood and Mrs. Cotsworth Clarke, Vancouver; Entries Close Saturday

Though an entirely new list of British adjudicators has been secured this year for Victoria Musical Festival and though the absence of Dr. Armstrong, Plunket Greene, Harold Samuel and Maurice Jacobson will be keenly felt by music lovers, the three Old Countrymen who will pass judgment on Victoria's musical talent April 4 to 8, inclusive, are of the highest calibre. They will in all likelihood convince their audiences that they are as gifted a group of musicians as their fore-runners.

As in the past, it will undoubtedly be an education to young musicians and even to their elders to submit to the criticism of adjudicators with such credentials, and to those who feel only partly satisfied with their achievement and who consider informed, constructive criticism and also the public competition which a festival affords would benefit them even slightly, the committee addresses its appeal for entries, which, it emphasizes, closes this Saturday.

ADJUDICATOR-IN-CHIEF
Dr. J. Frederic Staton, of Chesterfield, Eng., will judge the choir and will occupy the position of adjudicator-in-chief. Dr. Staton, who is forty-seven years of age, became organist at the Wesleyan Church at Whittington when only twelve years old. After considerable study he became a Fellow of the Royal College of Organists and a licentiate of the Royal Academy of Music and proceeded to his degree of doctor of music at the University of Durham.

Dr. Staton has shown much versatility in his career. In 1919 a military band trained and conducted by him won the championship of Great Britain. He has produced and conducted grand opera for five years in Sheffield and toured Belgium and France with his Chesterfield Choir in 1910, 1914 and 1926. He has acted as organist for Sir Henry Coward on most of the latter's foreign tours and has succeeded Sir Henry this year as chorus master of the famous Sheffield triennial festival choir of 400 picked singers.

He has judged at practically every important British festival, as well as being chairman in 1930 of the board of the first British national competition. He was elected by popular vote, along with Sir Walford Davies and Geoffrey Shaw, as choral judge of the first British national competition in 1930.

Dr. Staton has judged in Canada on two previous occasions and was an adjudicator at thirty-five British festivals in 1931.

GEORGE DODDS
George Dodds, vocal adjudicator, was trained at the Royal College of Music in London and is an associate of the college as well as being a licentiate of the Royal Academy of Music. During the last thirty-three years he has been conductor, author, adjudicator, lecturer and teacher of solo singing. He is at present conductor of the Newcastle and Gateshead Choral Union, the Jarrold Philharmonic Society, the Gateshead Operatic Society and the Newcastle Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Dodds is author of "Practical Hints for Singers," "Voice Placing Exercises," the article on singing in the thirteenth edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, co-author of "The Control of the Breath" and contributor for nearly twenty years of "The Singer's Column" in the publication, "The Choir." He has lectured, played, sung and conducted for the British Broadcasting Corporation and has been a lecturer on choral conducting at Columbia University, New York.

YORK BOWEN
York Bowen, who will confine the greater part of his attention to piano adjudication, has given frequent piano recitals in London, has appeared in the dual role of pianist and composer in his own concertos for piano and orchestra and has conducted several of his own works at most of the leading concerts, including the Royal Philharmonic concert, Queen's Hall promenade concert, London Symphony concert and the Manchester Hall concert.

Among Mr. Bowen's works are symphonies, concertos for violin, viola and cello, rhapsodies and two symphonic poems. His first public appearance was made in the Duxek piano concerto at the age of eight. He and Mrs. Bowen, who has made a life study of German Lieder music, give frequent recitals together. Among his prizes for composition is the £200 award for the official regimental march of the Royal Air Force.

As adjudicator, Mr. Bowen has had great experience, having visited many of the most interesting festivals in the British Isles, including the important ones of Dublin and Belfast. TWO FROM VANCOUVER
Professor F. G. C. Wood, of the University of British Columbia, who will act as adjudicator of the elocution classes, is a graduate of McGill University and a Harvard M.A. and is especially well known because of the excellent plays staged annually by the U.B.C. Players' Club, of which he is founder and director. In the eighteen years he has been on the staff of the Point Grey Institute, he has studied, produced and directed dramatics at various centres and is one of the leading figures in his profession. Mrs. Cotsworth Clarke, also of Vancouver, has judged folk dancing here before and needs no introduction to Victoria dance enthusiasts, who have had opportunities of gauging her excellence and fairness.

FAMED PROFESSOR QUILTS HARVARD

Prof. Ripley, Anthropologist and Economist, Retires After Notable Career

His Findings and Opinions Have Had Widely Influenced Legislation

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 23.—The resignation of William Z. Ripley as Nathaniel Ropes Professor of Political Economy at Harvard is announced as effective March 1. Mr. Ripley will become professor emeritus.

Professor Ripley, who is in his sixty-sixth year, has been ill in health recently, and while in Holland last fall suffered a serious breakdown from overwork. He has been on the Harvard faculty for thirty-two years.

HAS WON INTERNATIONAL FAME
Professor Ripley is one of the nation's leading economists and has won international renown in his field. His studies and pronouncements on many important problems and phases of the nation's economic life have produced profound impression and have influenced legislation.

An authority in two distinct fields, anthropology and economics, Professor Ripley is best known in this country for his knowledge of the problems of railway management, transportation and the distribution of goods. In recent years he has been active in researches in modern corporation development and has been a leading advocate for the control of holding companies and adequate protection of the interests of stockholders.

In this connection he has pointed out repeatedly that in many of the large corporations ownership is separated from control, that while the number of stockholders is increasing, control is held by a minority, sometimes by a management which holds no appreciable amount of stock. This trend, according to Professor Ripley, is fostered by the use of legal devices, including charter provisions giving boards of directors absolute control.

FOR CORPORATION PUBLICITY
In this connection Professor Ripley has also emphasized the fact that each state is free to grant any corporate powers it wishes, to be exercised anywhere within the union, powers often based on company needs as determined only by the management to the disadvantage of the stockholders.

Contending that the small investor cannot get at the true facts regarding the corporations in which he contemplates investing, while corporation managements possess information which is not equally accessible to all stockholders, Professor Ripley has pointed out that this puts the isolated shareholder to a disadvantage on the Stock Exchange. As one remedy he has urged enforced adequate publicity of corporate accounts.

Best known among his works are "Main Street and Wall Street," "The Financial History of Virginia," "The Races of Europe," "Rural Problems," "Railroads—Rates and Regulations" and "Railroads—Finance and Organization."

HIS ACADEMIC CAREER
Professor Ripley was born in Medford, Mass., Oct. 19, 1867. In 1890 he was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1892 he received his master's degree from Columbia University. In 1895 he returned to Technology as Professor of Economics and remained six years, during which he was also a lecturer on sociology at Columbia.

Since 1901 he has been a member of the teaching staff at Harvard University. In 1902 he was appointed Professor of Political Economy and in 1911 to the Nathaniel Ropes Chair.

In 1918 he was administrator of labor standards for the War Department and for the following two years was chairman of the National Adjustment Commission of the United States Shipping Board. From 1920 to 1932 he served with the Interstate Commerce Commission, acting in 1921 as special examiner on the consolidation of railroads.

NEW X-RAY TUBE MADE OF PAPER

Princeton Invention Is Designed to Carry Huge Voltages to Bombard Molecules

New York, Feb. 23.—A new X-ray tube, made of paper, which can withstand higher voltages than tubes made of glass has been constructed at the Palmer Physical Laboratory, Princeton University. It is announced in the current issue of the Physical Review, publication of the American Institute of Physics.

The tube, which promises to permit the production of more powerful X-ray tubes than hitherto had been possible, was built by Dr. L. C. Van Atta and Dr. R. J. Van de Graaff, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Dr. H. A. Barton, director of the American Institute of Physics.

Until now, Dr. Barton said, few X-ray tubes have been made of anything except glass, and the few that have been made of metal have glass for insulation. Two German scientists, Lange and Brach, of Berlin, have constructed a 2,500,000-volt tube of laminations of rubber and paper with aluminum gaskets.

The tube created at Princeton has been built as part of experiments to develop X-ray tubes for the 10,000,000-volt Van de Graaff static electricity generator, now nearing completion at the Experiment Station of Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Round Hill, Mass. The generator will be used as the most powerful "gun" yet devised by science for bombarding the nuclei of atoms, as a step toward the transmutation of the elements, age-old dream of the alchemist.

All glass tubes have broken at 400,000 volts, Dr. Barton stated, but the new laminated paper tube has so far withstood 300,000 volts with no puncture. This has been the limit of most glass tubes of similar size.

The new tube is cylindrical in shape, about one-quarter of an inch thick, four feet in length, and seven inches in diameter. Brass plates are fastened to the ends with cement, and the laminated paper is impregnated with shellac. Another feature is an India ink line drawn in a spiral thread on the outside of the cylinder from one end to the other. This line, it was explained, strengthens resistance to puncture by the high voltages inside, and also prevents sparks from forming on the outside.

Previously, the report says, such material was not practical for X-ray tubes because of leaks and absorbed gases which, clinging on the inside surfaces, improvements in high-speed vacuum pumps eliminated these difficulties.

Head Ache? Then Avoid Excesses

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

In a survey of methods of treatment to be applied in headache, Dr. Henry A. Riley points out that almost every method of treatment known to medical science has been applied at one time or another in such cases.

He feels, therefore, that some definite change should be made in the life habits of such a patient based on a complete survey of his work, his play, his food, his mental attitude, and his philosophy of life. An inequity of emphasis in the patient's interests and activities should be corrected. He should live a moderate existence and all excesses should be prevented.

A patient who is constantly indoors and gets insufficient exercise should change his habits in the right direction. Rest and change are particularly valuable for people who are constantly under physical, mental or emotional pressure. No one with recurrent headaches should try to work all the time. They will do well to take at least one afternoon and one day a week for rest or recreation, perhaps both winter and summer vacations.

In controlling the immediate attack, Dr. Riley suggests that the room be darkened and that everything be kept quiet. Most such patients are so intensely uncomfortable that they do not want to be touched or interfered with. In some instances, an icebag to the head or a hot-water bottle to the feet may give relief.

The physician who is actively in charge of the treatment of such a patient can do much by controlling the diet, eliminating the substances to which the patient seems to respond with headache.

He can also control the actions of the bowel and, on occasion, get results by the injection of various preparations which produce what is known as non-specific protein reaction.

The use of various glandular preparations to overcome deficiencies in glands or, in some instances, to oppose over-activity of certain glands is again experimental, but is worthy of trial.

In cases which seem to be of this type there arises the question of giving pain. Here it is absolutely necessary to rest or recreation, perhaps both winter and summer vacations.

In controlling the immediate attack, Dr. Riley suggests that the room be darkened and that everything be kept Christ-rejecting world on account of their dictator. Blessed are they that put their trust in the Lord Jesus Christ!

Superiors Take

Play-off Series

Edmonton, Feb. 23.—Edmonton Superiors, fresh from their triumphal tour of Europe, added the Northern Alberta senior amateur hockey championship to their list of victories when they defeated Imperials here yesterday evening, 3 to 1. The game was the second of a two-out-of-three series for the title and the right to meet the Southern Alberta winners.

Superiors won the first game on Monday, 4 to 0, and thus won the round, 7 to 1, and thus won the title.

Imperials were without the services of Lindsay Carver, star defence man, whose amateur card had been suspended earlier in the day.

NANAIMO BASKETBALL

Nanaimo, Feb. 23.—Nanaimo Mosquitoes hoopers won three games and lost one in a playoff series here last night. In the opening game Mosquitoes defeated Alberni, 18 to 15, in a fast game. Oscar Thom was high scorer for Alberni.

The best game of the evening was between Mosquitoes Senior Girls and Toulon Girls, resulting in a win for Nanaimo by 19 to 17.

In the third game Mosquitoes "B" defeated Alberni by 30 to 17.

Oarsman to Try Mt. Everest Climb

London.—A man who has stroked the Cambridge crew to victory for three successive years, T. A. Brocklebank, will be one of the Mount Everest Expedition which will leave England in a few weeks to make another attack on the world's highest peak.

Mr. Brocklebank is one of the most brilliant strokes Cambridge has ever had.

In the equipment of the expedition is a tent that weighs only eleven pounds. It is made of the finest Egyptian cotton, for the sake of lightness, for it will be used when the final assault in the highest altitudes will be made.

Also to make their climbing packs lighter, the expedition is carrying aluminium tent-pegs.

EMPIRE THEATRE

A completely furnished seven-roomed flat was set up in the studios for "Money Means Nothing," the Paramount British picture which is being shown at the Empire Theatre.

The flat consisted of lounge, dining-room, hall, two bedrooms, kitchen and bathroom. Hot and cold water, a telephone, and a refrigerator were installed, also a well-stocked larder. Everything, in fact, was complete in detail, except for a roof to the flat. In place of the roof was a battery of arc lamps, and which, when switched on, produced enough light to illuminate the whole of a London street.

"Money Means Nothing" is a light comedy adapted from an original story by Douglas Fairbanks.

REAL AQUARIUM IN FILM HERE

Capitol Showing "The Penguin Pool Murder" Featuring Edna May Oliver

The New York Aquarium, down to its last detail of Latin nomenclatures and warm running water for tropical inmates, was constructed for the RKO Radio Pictures lot for the filming of "The Penguin Pool Murder," featuring Edna May Oliver, James Gleason and Robert Armstrong, at the Capitol Theatre.

So fascinated by the thrill comedy scenes and the unusual exhibits, were the stars and studio workers on the lot that George Archibald, director, issued orders that the set be closed to all visitors.

"We had to do it," he explained, "too many people got in front of the camera, thinking they were visiting an actual aquarium, and having a good time laughing at Oscar, the penguin. It made work too difficult."

Oscar, an equatorial specimen, smaller than the Antarctic penguin photographed by Commander Byrd on his expedition, is a real studio find. He is one of six penguins in captivity in America, and immediately became the real star of the RKO lot.

Besides the famous penguin pool, around which the action of the story centres, the elaborate setting comprised the tropical fish, while the most complicated major installations of piping were required in or out of the tanks had to be heated to specific temperatures for the tropical fish, while the tanks were cooled for the harder specimens.

An added attraction the Capitol Theatre is showing an interesting picture, entitled "The Sport Parade."

FILM SPECTACLE

OPENS SATURDAY

Something different in pictures will be provided Victoria theatre patrons in the magnificent spectacle and latest De Mille production "The Sign of the Cross," which will be shown for one entire week at the Dominion Theatre commencing on Saturday.

"The Sign of the Cross" is not great merely because it is good entertainment, because it is spectacular and lavish, but because it combines all these elements to form a picture thrilling, satisfying and absorbing.

It is spectacular as no picture has been for the last five years or more. The great feats and debaucheries of degenerate Roman nobles, the magnificence and extravagance of a wealthy and decadent civilization, the sight of a city in flames, the vast amphitheatre completely filled with a howling excited crowd, the Christian martyrs meeting in secret and soldiers of the empire in their military trappings.

Young Corbett Becomes King Of The Welterweight Division

THE SPORTS MIRROR

House of David Oagers Turn in Brilliant Exhibition

Showmanship of Bearded Stars Provides Much Laughter

Open Championship May Draw Bill Tilden Out of Retirement

FANS who were present at the high school gym on Wednesday night to watch the visiting House of David basketball team perform saw the greatest exhibition of the cage sport in the history of the game in Victoria. The "men of beards" proved the finest collection of players to ever step on a local floor. They were past masters of the game and their ball handling ability, floor generalship and uncanny marksmanship was a sight never to be forgotten. In addition the Illinois stars were wonderful showmen and as a result the spectators saw more than just a basketball game.

One of the big features of the game was the smart plays the visiting players unrolled to place their men in scoring positions. Practically every one of their moves to work a man under the basket called for the blocking out of at least one or two men. In addition the Davids were deadly with their long shots. One of the things that most likely escaped a number of spectators was the clever footwork of the bearded boys in the close scrimmage. Several times one of the Davids players would be brought down hard and it was due to the neat little taps on the part of the visiting men. This is not allowed according to the rules but the Illinois boys were so neat and fast, it was impossible for the referee to catch them every time.

Johnston, smooth-working forward, was the showman of the team. His antics on the floor had the crowd in laughter while he kept ragging Referee Tommy Macdonald in a good-natured manner for additional fun. All the members of the House of David were finely built athletes and in the pink of condition.

This exhibition game brought to notice Victoria's need for an auditorium for the staging of indoor events that attract large crowds. This game was witnessed by around 700 fans and of this number only one-third were seated. The remainder were crowded together like a bunch of sardines, in the gallery or along the sidelines. For these people there was absolutely no comfort and the result attendance at other features may suffer just as much.

When the United States Lawn Tennis Association the other day announced its intention to sanction an open tennis championship, in which the amateurs would meet the pros, as in golf, it appeared that the league was on Bill Tilden, for a few days later the former U.S. champion announced his retirement. Tilden was forty years old on February 10. It seems a pretty good age at which to retire from such a sport. Tilden has seen it all, and he has won everything there is to win in tennis.

But when the amateurs and pros gather at the Germantown Cricket Club in Philadelphia in the summer, don't be too sure that Bill will not be there. His sudden appearance would be altogether in keeping with his life, a career of surprises.

Tilden might say to himself: "Why, those kids are still mad at me. They wait until I have announced my retirement and then they decide to have an open championship. Maybe they want to have the last laugh. Well, let's see me who really will have the last laugh. I feel great. I'll play. I'll fool them."

Time after time Big Bill has sat down before his portable typewriter not only to disprove the U.S.L.T.A. but to criticize the organization. What if the U.S.L.T.A. did have a rule forbidding a player from announcing his retirement for publication about it, in other words "covering" the event? Did that mean anything to Bill Tilden, many times the champion, and the man who has done more than the U.S.L.T.A. to build up the game in the United States throughout the last decade?

It did not, Tilden usually sat and wrote whatever he pleased, and they had to like it, because Tilden for ever so many years was all there was in tennis, and don't be too sure when the date for that open tour around that he isn't in there yet, taking his cut.

Tilden has been as great a champion at his own game as Dempsey at fighting, Jones at golf, and Babe Ruth at baseball. There were times in his career when the public hated him for snobby showmanship that seemed to be carried too far. But there were more frequent occasions when the world applauded him for his defiance of the very peculiar by-laws of the U.S.L.T.A.

He quit the Davis Cup team cold in 1924 when the committee questioned his status as an amateur because of his writings. One year his row with the august U.S.L.T.A. reached such proportions that the ambassador to France had to step in to insure the presence of Tilden in the Paris final.

St. Louis, Feb. 23.—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, recognized in some states as the light heavyweight boxing champion, won a judge's decision over Al Stillman, St. Louis, in a fifteen-round non-title bout here yesterday evening. Rosenbloom was knocked down in the fourth round, but was back on his feet at the count of seven.

BAYS TO MAKE BID FOR TITLE

Win on Saturday Against Gunners Expected to Give Rowing Club B Honors

Fifth Brigade and College Still Have Mathematical Chances For Laurels

Hoping to sweep through the ranks of the Fifth Brigade to another victory, James Bay Athletic Association senior B rowers will be out at full strength on Saturday to consolidate their position at the top of their loop when they take the field against the Gunners at Oak Bay Park. In the other second division match, Victoria College will play the United Services at Work Point Barracks.

While the league championship was still a matter for mathematical decision to-day, it appeared the Bays would carry the colors of Victoria against Vancouver in the Province Cup final on the Mainland this year. Providing the carmen win on Saturday, they will virtually clinch the city title. However, if the Gunners pull a surprise and take the encounter, they will have a mathematical chance to win the title. Word from the secretary of the local union to-day was to the effect the James Bay Athletic Association had seven points with but Saturday's game to complete their fixture list in the second half. The Gunners have five points with two games to go and Victoria College has four with two fixtures still billed.

GUNNERS' PROSPECTS

A win for the Gunners on Saturday would put them into a tie with the Bays. And if they were able to take College into camp the following week they would gain the second-half title and enter the city play-offs with the rowing club, first-half winners.

College's chances lay in the ability of the Fifth to best the Bays, while they take the United Services into camp, and then turn around and win the following week. But word from the J.B.A.A. camp indicated all figuring would be unnecessary following Saturday's fixture. They are confident of overcoming the Gunners, although they expect a good battle.

If they are able to accomplish that feat, their margin over other teams in the division will be too great to overcome. Should they come about, there will be no play-off between the first and second half winners, and the rowing club will go to Vancouver after the Province Cup.

SKATING STARS IN "MARATHON"

World's Leading Artists Engage in Six-day Event on Syracuse Ice

Syracuse, N.Y., Feb. 23.—Bobby McLean, Chicago, world professional champion, tripped on a loose shoe lace as he rounded a turn in the six-day skating race here yesterday afternoon and was knocked unconscious when he crashed into the boards.

However, his partner, Ben O'Sickey, Saratoga Lake, took his place on the ice to hold third place in the "marathon," which reached the sixty-eighth hour yesterday evening. George Matter and Leonard Cleveland, Syracuse youngsters, maintained their lead of five laps through sprints of the afternoon and evening. They have covered approximately 614 miles. In second place are Tony Rogers, Cleveland, Ohio, and Russell McGowan, Chicago, with 7369 laps, while the McLean-O'Sickey team has covered 7366 laps.

Dazzling Early Attack Gives California Veteran Verdict in Ten-round Bout

CLIMAXES THREE-YEAR CHALLENGE

Fields Makes His Only Bid in Ninth Round; 15,000 at San Francisco Fight

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—Young Corbett the third stood out over the welterweight ranks to-day as the champion of a division in which he has been a persistent challenger the last three years.

Climaxing a long uphill pull, the Fresno, Cal., left-hander became the ruler of the 147-pound class by decisively defeating Jackie Fields in a ten-round bout here yesterday.

With a dazzling early attack that won him five rounds before his opponent got started, Corbett piled up an advantage that left no doubt in the minds of 15,000 fans as to his superiority.

Tiring somewhat in the eighth and ninth rounds, Corbett finished with a rally that left Fields dazed and leg weary. Fifteen seconds before the end of the tenth session he drove into Fields with rights and lefts that forced the latter to give ground. While the crowd cheered, Corbett landed three heavy lefts to the chin and body with right hands to the body without Fields making a return.

HIS BIG BID

The titleholder made his big bid in the ninth when he pounded Corbett around the ring with a two-fisted attack. Corbett clinched repeatedly to weather the storm.

The new champion is of Italian parentage, his real name being Raffaele Crocetti. He is twenty-seven years old, has been fighting for nearly ten years, and in 141 matches has lost but two decisions, and never has been knocked out.

ROUND ONE

Corbett rushed out and landed the first punch, a stiff left to the face that drove Fields back into the ropes. The Fresno boy followed it up with a furious two-fisted exchange that had Fields on the retreat.

A left to the nose opened up a cut on Fields, and he took two more rights and lefts in the exchange. Fields found the range and landed a right and a left to the body. Corbett jumped in to land a left on the champion's jaw and followed it with a smash to the stomach that hurt the titleholder.

Corbett battered Fields in a change in which Fields failed to land a punch. A series of lefts to the body jolted the champion severely and he was wobbling on his legs as the round ended.

ROUND TWO

Fields rushed out in an effort to take the play away from his rival, and in a spirited exchange landed two right-handers to Corbett's jaw. Fields rushed Corbett into the ropes and had the champion rushed in again, but ran flush into a stiff left to the nose that set him back on his heels.

Fields took the aggressive and bored into his stocky opponent, but inflicted no damage. Corbett brought up a long left uppercut to the chin and took a hard right to the body in return. They exchanged punches at his bell.

ROUND THREE

Fields fiddled around for a moment and went into a clinch, each working on the body. Fields rushed in, landing a couple of lefts and rights to the body. Corbett spotted the champion with a left to the face and brought in another left to the body. As Fields bowed in the Fresno boy smashed in a left to the jaw that set Fields back, but the titleholder continued to bore in.

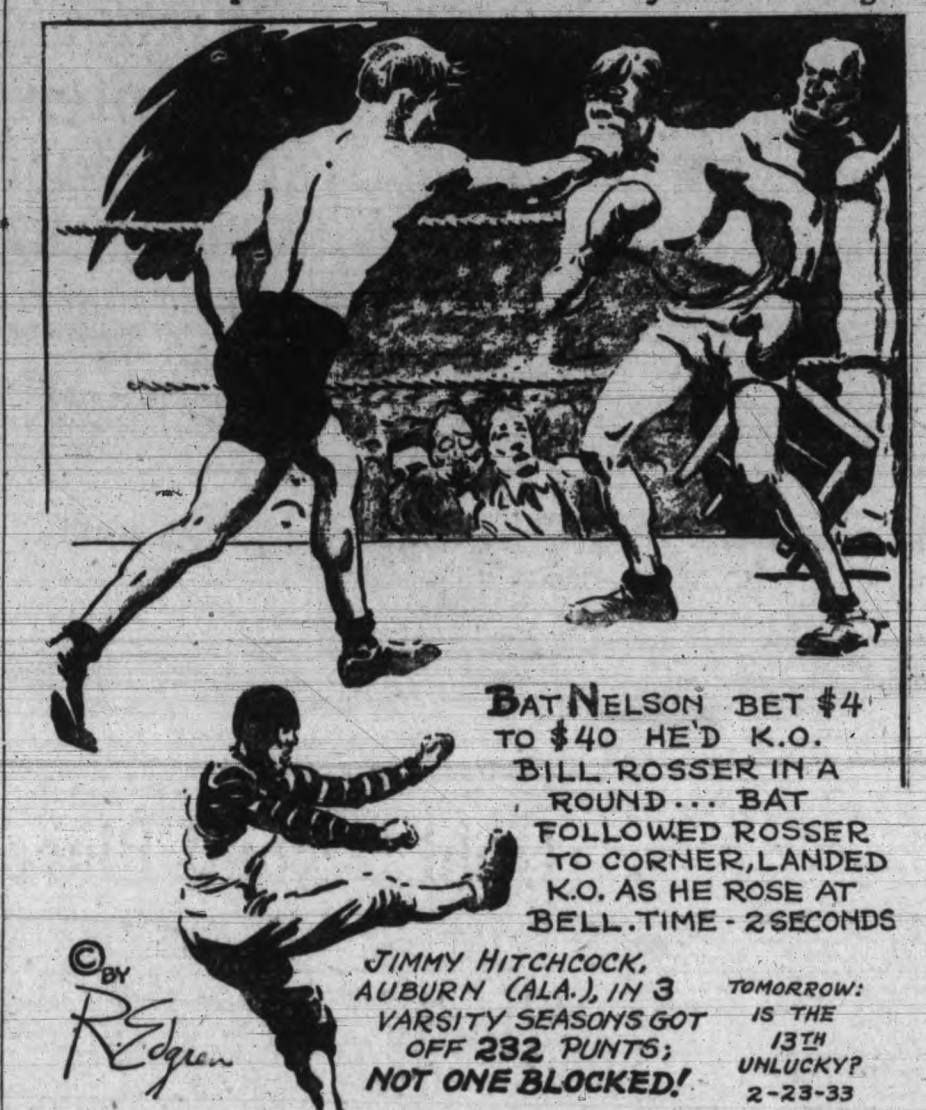

Fields banged in a right to the jaw and hooked with his left. In an exchange on the ropes the champion battered Corbett around the body. Corbett landed two lefts to the face and another to the body as the round ended. The referee gave the round to Corbett.

As Fields bored in Corbett set him back with a left to the chin, and he followed up the advantage with two more punches.

Muzz Patrick and Doug Peden Account For Scores With Kicks and Try

Scoring nine points in the second half, from two well placed penalty kicks by "Muzz" Patrick and Doug Peden, and a try by the latter, Victoria High School senior rugby fifteen defeated the Victoria College, 9 to 0, yesterday afternoon. The game was played under ideal conditions at the Royal Athletic Park, and a large gallery of spectators witnessed the encounter.

High School kicked off and for five minutes penned College on their goal line. Carey relieved pressure with a beautiful kick to mid-field. From there a couple of lefts and rights to the body. Corbett spotted the champion with a left to the face and brought in another left to the body. As Fields bowed in the Fresno boy smashed in a left to the jaw that set Fields back, but the titleholder continued to bore in.

Fields banged in a right to the jaw and hooked with his left. In an exchange on the ropes the champion battered Corbett around the body. Corbett landed two lefts to the face and another to the body as the round ended. The referee gave the round to Corbett.

ROUND FIVE

They sparred around a bit, Corbett landing two stinging lefts to the chin that made Fields's head bob back. Corbett continued to dominate the fight with raking lefts to the jaw that stopped Fields's rushes. Fields got 41.

The teams followed: High School—Okell, Halkett, Price, Jaunt, Surphiss, Fraser, Shepherd, Ritchie, Patrick, Peden, Leason, Rowlands, Guelph, Doherty and Levy. College—Carey, Ferguson, Coventry, utternall, Ward, Mayhew, Andrews, Teckett, Gray, Moust, Banks, Upward, Sangster, Stewart and McKenna.

Two Victoria Hoop Teams Gain Margins

Slingers and Adanacs Defeat Ladysmith in Lower Island Play-offs

Fosters Drop Hard Game to Up-Islanders; Second Games To-morrow Night

Two Victoria and District League Basketball teams advanced closer to Island championships yesterday evening at the Victoria High School gym when Slingers defeated the Ladysmith senior B men, 35 to 25, and the Adanacs took the measure of the Ladysmith Junior boys, 39 to 16. Fosters dropped a close game to the Intermediate B boys from Ladysmith, 30 to 25.

These games were the first of a home-and-home series for Lower Island honors with the teams meeting in the second games to-morrow evening at Ladysmith.

Ladysmith senior B engers lost an opportunity to take a commanding lead against Slingers when they failed to make their shots count in the first half. Slingers managed to leave the floor with the score deadlocked at 11 to 11.

The opening of the second half saw Ladysmith go into the lead, but Slingers came right back to tie the count half way through the period. The lead then went from one side to the other until with only four minutes left to play, Slingers put on a fine offensive rally that gave them the lead.

GREAT RALLY

Staging a great second half rally, Ladysmith Trojans downed Fosters. The visitors took the lead early in the second half and towards the end of the battle they played a strong defensive game, coupled with a slow breaking offensive which wasted time. Gourlay was the individual star of the game, for in addition to his individual score of nine points he assisted in the majority of the Ladysmith scores. Fosters did not show the same form that won them the local title.

With height and weight advantage, the local Adanacs had little trouble taking their game from the Ladysmith Juniors. In the first half the score read 19 in favor of the locals, while in the second half Victoria scored practically at will.

Tommy Macdonald and Thompson refereed.

The teams and individual scores follow: Adanacs—Andrews (10), Macmurchie (7), Maynith, Davies (11), Higgins (9), Watson, Taylor (2), Anderson. Ladysmith Juniors—Torkko (9), Popovitch, Battle, Levendusky (5), McMurtre, Stillin (1), Hunter (1), Brown. Australians Put On 296 For Loss Of Five Wickets

Darling and McCabe Rally After Poor Start in Fifth Test Cricket Match

FORMER SCORES 66 RUNS NOT OUT

McCabe Scores 73 Before Being Caught; H. Larwood Leads English Bowlers

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 23.—A strong fifth-wicket stand gave Australia 296 runs for five wickets at close of play to-day in the fifth and last test cricket match with England. The Ashes, emblem of world cricket supremacy, were won by England in the fourth match and nothing was at stake in the final engagement.

Fifteen thousand persons were treated to a remarkable bowling exhibition by Harold Larwood, whose varied attack took four of the five wickets that fell during the day.

From the Aussie point of view the splendid stand by J. S. Darling was the feature of the opening play. Darling scored sixty-six after the first innings, in which he played all-around as wicket. At close of play he still carried his bat. Paired with Stanley McCabe the two made a fine fifth-wicket stand that brought the Australian score to 244 from 163.

RICHARDSON GETS DUCK

The inning started out disastrously for Australia, when V. J. Richardson was out on the fifth ball of the first over before he had scored. He tipped one from Larwood to D. R. Jardine on slips.

Don Bradman joined W. M. Woodfull and the talented batsman proceeded to batting which was spotted only occasionally with his best form.

Larwood bowled Bradman for fourteen with the score at fifty-nine for two wickets. Bradman was the next to go. With his score at forty-eight he lost his leg stump. The score stood at sixty-four for three wickets.

Stanley McCabe and L. P. O'Brien then settled down. The century was passed after short of two hours play and 163 was reached before O'Brien fell victim to Larwood's enticement and knocked a catch to Wood. The total was 183.

MCABE CAUGHT OUT

McCabe finally lost his wicket after scoring seventy-three when he cut one to Hammond in the slips from Hesley Wood. The total was 244 for five wickets.

W. A. Oldfield joined Darling for the remainder of the play and at the close had scored thirty-nine, not out, while Darling's score had reached sixty-six, not out. The total was 296 for five wickets.

Australia, first innings, 296 for five wickets.

JIM BROWNING DROVE SPIKES TO GET MUSCLE

Conqueror of Ed. Lewis Worked on Section Gang to Build Up Strength

New Heavyweight Wrestling Title Claimant Was Mark For Bullies in Youth

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 23.—Big Jim Browning, who pinned Strangler Lewis to the mat in New York this week and became one of the three major claimants to the world heavyweight wrestling championship, not so many years ago was a puny farm boy shamed around by the town bullies of Verona, Mo.

He is a first cousin of Harry Browning, soldier of fortune, poet and student at Drury College here, who recently was denied a passport to England after selling stock in his education at Oxford University to friends in this section.

Browning recalls that, as a boy, Jim was under-developed. The bullies of Verona picked on him whenever he went to town. What he was in the eighth grade, he had to quit school to support his mother and went to work on a section gang. It was on the section, laying the rails and driving spikes, that he developed his great strength.

MET CARNIVAL "CHAMPS"

The section crew used to visit carnivals together. Almost every carnival had a "wrestling champion," who would offer to wrestle anyone who could stay with him five minutes. Jim began to wrestle the carnival champs. It was not long until he was staying the limit fairly regularly.

Browning is known principally for the enormous power of his legs, which he used to exercise by flattening padded box car springs and by bursting sacks of bran with his knees.

Jim owes a big favor to Joplin now, and drives to the Ozarks occasionally, in an expensive car, to rest up. He is twenty-nine years old.

There is no word as yet regarding a possible meeting between Browning and the champion of the world, Ed. Lewis, who recently defeated him in a title fight, and Jim is now in New York City, still says the title is his, despite a refusal months ago to stake it against Strangler Lewis.

Chet Miller Sets Stock Car Record

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 23.—Shortly after Sir Malcolm Campbell had established a new land speed record of 272.108 miles an hour here yesterday for cars of unlimited piston displacement, Chet Miller, Detroit, race car driver, hung up one for himself with a much smaller machine.

Driving an eight-cylinder stock car, Miller established a record over a mile at 85.836 miles an hour for machines in class C division, which have a piston displacement of from 183 to 305 cubic inches. The previous record for that class was 67.712, set up at Murco Dry Lake, Calif. last July.

ONE-SIDED WIN

Halifax, Feb. 23.—Halifax Wolverines took a long step towards the final battle with Moncton for the Maritime Senior Hockey League title yesterday evening, as they ran riot through a demoralized Charlottetown crew, to score a 7 to 1 victory.

The game was first of a four-game series, total goals to count, for the right to meet Moncton.

Campbell Will Not Make Another Attempt On Record

Three New Flying Start Marks Were Set By Britisher

Latest World Records Brings Sir Malcolm's Total to Five; Sails For Home March 3

His Injured Arm Given Treatment

Gets Congratulatory Messages From World Press; Premier Bennett Wires

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 23.—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British race driver, who yesterday hung up three new world land speed records, announced definitely to-day he would make no more speed trials here this year, and would leave Tuesday for New York to sail for England on March 3.

Sir Malcolm said he would ship his record-holding Bluebird racing car north to-morrow or Saturday.

Decision not to make any more speed trials this year was reached after the 48-year-old driver had consulted a physician, who told him it would not be advisable to race now because of a previously sprained arm.

Three new world land speed records were to the credit of Campbell yesterday, including new flying start records for one kilometre, one mile and five kilometres to top more than a quarter of a century of thrilling racing and narrow escapes on the roaring road.

Throughout his two runs for the three new records yesterday, Sir Malcolm steered the hurtling machine most of the way over a nine-mile stretch of bumpy beach with only one hand. Afterward, described his experience as "the worst ride I ever had in my life."

HAS ARM TREATED
Returning to his hotel immediately after establishing his new marks, he was compelled to summon a physician to treat his arm and hand.

In making his thunderous runs over the hard-packed sands yesterday, the king of land speed gathered in new records of 273.463 miles an hour over one kilometre, 272.146 over a mile, and 287.206 over five kilometres, to bring to five the number of world land speed records he possesses. He already holds the records of 242.761 over five miles and 239.669 over ten kilometres. A kilometre is approximately five-eighths of a mile.

In establishing a new mark for the measured mile, the racer covered the distance for an average elapsed time on both runs of 13.30 seconds. His previous mile record was 14.17 seconds.

A veritable flood of congratulatory messages poured in on the Briton today from all parts of the world.

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—Canada's congratulations to Sir Malcolm Campbell, who yesterday broke his own automobile speed record on the sands of Daytona Beach, Florida, were extended by Premier Bennett.

Promptly on receipt of the news, Premier Bennett sent the following telegram to Sir Malcolm:

"May I, on behalf of the Government of Canada, offer hearty congratulations on your magnificent achievement. All Canadians are proud of your record, initiative and courage."

Paul Runyan And Horton Smith Win

Miami, Fla., Feb. 23.—Taking the lead with three birdies in the first four holes of the afternoon round, Paul Runyan and Horton Smith held on doggedly against two veterans, yesterday, and won the international four-ball championship from Olin Dutra and Tommy Armour, 2 and 1.

Their victory came in a grueling battle that was in doubt until Runyan laid his tee shot twelve feet from the cup on the short, par four, thirty-fifth hole, with his side leading, two up, but it was Smith who ended the match by putting first and dropping in a birdie three to halve the hole.

FRESNO SOUTHPAW IN DECISIVE WIN OVER JACK FIELDS

close and smashed in right-handers to Corbett's body, some of which were so low the referee cautioned him.

Corbett drove in a left to the pit of the stomach and beat Fields to the punch almost every time in a vicious exchange.

Fields rushed Corbett into the ropes and landed a right into the body, but he took rights and lefts to the chin in return. Corbett was the complete master of the situation. The referee gave Corbett the round.

ROUND SIX
Fields rushed out with determination, Fields rushed all over his face, but he took a left to the jaw in the exchange. Fields forced the fighting and landed several right-handers to Corbett's chin. The champion also dropped in some husky punches to Corbett's body as he rushed in with fists flying. Corbett got in a few right-hand punches to the body and nailed Fields with a left to the chin when the latter rushed in.

They mauled each other in a clinch. Corbett sunk his left into Fields's body, but the latter continued to bore in. Fields caught Corbett with a right to the body. Corbett was going away. Referee Kennedy gave the round to Fields.

ROUND SEVEN
Corbett landed the first punch, a right to the body, but took a harder left to the chin in return. Corbett drove in his left to the body, and in a clinch Fields battered with both hands. Fields continued to force the fighting, backing his opponent about the body. Corbett landed four heavy lefts to the chin with a return, just before the round ended. The blows stopped Fields in his tracks each time. The referee signaled it was Corbett's round.

ROUND EIGHT
Fields rushed out, but Corbett danced around him. They had a light exchange on the ropes with honors about even. Two clinches followed with no damage done. Fields landed a right to the body, but took a harder left to the chin in return. Corbett drove in his left to the body, and in a clinch Fields battered with both hands. Fields continued to force the fighting, backing his opponent about the body. Corbett landed four heavy lefts to the chin with a return, just before the round ended. The blows stopped Fields in his tracks each time. The referee signaled it was Corbett's round.

ROUND NINE
Fields rushed out and they battled toe to toe in mid-ring, with punches being about evenly divided. The titleholder sent in a right to the body, but the challenger clinched, and after breaking away, Fields smashed in a right to the jaw. The referee cautioned Corbett to keep his right glove closed. Fields sent in punches to the jaw and dropped over a heavy right to the body. Corbett shot his left to Fields's head. The champion caught Corbett on the jaw with a hard right that made the latter's legs wobble. Fields continued to punch his rival around and took the round rather easily. The referee pointed to Fields.

ROUND TEN
They shook hands. Corbett sent in a left and right to the jaw. Fields drove in, crowing punches to the body. Corbett was bleeding from the nose. Corbett landed a left to Fields's chin, but the latter had the better of the fighting. Fields landed a heavy left to the jaw and taking heavy body punches in return. Corbett set the pace and rushed Fields to the ropes, landing rights and lefts to the jaw. Corbett landed three lefts to the jaw. Corbett's terrific finish left Fields in a somewhat groggy condition, the champion not making a return, as the round ended. The referee called the round even.

Kansas City, Feb. 23.—St. Louis Flyers swept into a second-place tie with Kansas City Planners when they took a 3 to 2 overtime victory from the locals yesterday evening.

NAVY WALKOVER
Scoring one tally in the first half and adding another in the second, with "Tug" Wilson doing the hat trick, Navy had little difficulty in accounting for the Hearts at Lower Beason Hill.

Play swung from end to end in the first half, Hearts making several good attempts but spoiling their chances through crowding.

White and Robinson played strong defensive games for the sailors, while their forwards worked well together.

Wilson scored the first tally with a first timer from a pass by Roberts.

Things were easier for the Navy following the interval. Wilson banged in two more tallies and Williams and Marr added another apiece for the blue-jackets.

Johnson refereed and the teams were: Navy—Barker, White, Stone, Sadler, Robinson, Bennalick, Roberts, McDonald, Wilson, Marr, Williams.

Hearts—Geddes, McMillan, Champion, McBride, Robinson, McBride, Speller, Brand, Bryant, Speller.

Fatalities in the recent blizzard in the east were light, considering how many shivering souls were asked: "Is it cold enough for you?"

Georgia Coleman Not Turning Pro

Los Angeles, Feb. 23.—Georgia Coleman, women's diving champion, told the Associated Press yesterday that reports she was to become a professional immediately were "a lot of hokey."

Announcement was made last week that Miss Coleman would appear as a performer in the annual Shrine Hippodrome, an indoor circus.

"I am leaving for Miami, Fla., where I will train for the defence of my diving title in the east this summer," she said.

SAILORS, BAYS, EMPRESS WIN

Take Three Pendray Cup Soccer Games By Blanking Opponents Yesterday

Spencers, Hearts and Saanich United Defeated; Leaders Improve Positions

Blanking their opponents by scores of 5 to 1 and 1 to 0, Navy and Hudson's Bays ran their list of straight victories up to three as they sent Hearts and Spencers down to defeat in the Pendray Cup series at low Beason Hill and Heywood Avenue grounds yesterday.

Empress Hotel came through with a surprise win over Saanich United, gaining a 1 to 0 verdict at Central Park.

As a result of the games the sailors and the Bays marched arm in arm to the top of the league standing, while Saanich, Spencers and the Empress Hotel were left in a third place bracket.

In the all-department store game, between Spencers and the Bays, both teams put up good exhibitions, fighting each the way.

Sam McKinnon's goal from Owen Bentley's cross just before half time was the deciding factor for the Hudson's Bay boys.

Hardie, Spencers' goalie, made some smart saves as the Bays opened up a bombardment on his net at the beginning of the game. Bissett and Cann, the defence, held the Bays out on repeated attacks.

Spencers forwards were unable to get past the Bay half-back and full-back lines on several of their attempts.

NEARLY SCORED
Dick Bradley nearly scored for Spencers when he broke through with no one but Shrimpton to beat. The veteran custodian rushed out to deflect the shot over the bar. Les Bradley also got in a good shot as Spencers returned, but again Shrimpton proved safe.

Swinging away on his wings, Bentley carried the ball deep into Spencers' ground before he crossed perfectly. McKinnon took the centre and tapped it into the net for the only score of the game.

Spencers tried hard in the second half, but although they held a lot of the play in the Bays' territory, they were unable to score.

McKinnon refereed and teams followed: Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Costes, Menzies, Davis, Mercer, Oakman, Wood, Fyfe, Ferguson, McKinnon and Bentley.

Spencers—Hardie, Bissett, Cann, Jones, Clarke, Wright, L. Bradley, Munroe, D. Bradley, Luxton and Plater.

UNITED BEATEN
Featured by the smart defence work of Hawson and McLean, fullbacks, and Wensley, the goalie, the Empress Hotel boys' victory came as a decided surprise to the favored Saanich United at Central Park.

The United confident of their ability to handle the hotelmen, took things easy throughout the match, but failed to come through with the needed tallies to offset the score gained by Ernie Cheshworth.

Cheshworth secured his counter twenty-five minutes from the start, rushing in to take a rebound off the end and bang it home.

The Empress boys went on the defensive after their own tally and held the suburban team out.

Davies refereed and teams followed: Saanich—United—Collins, Blanco, O'Connell, Bonier, Moir, Low, Kennedy, Ward, Price, Kelm and Obee.

Empress Hotel—Wensley, Ramsley, McLellan, Johnson, Vance, Stokes, Carroll, Clarke, Stanton, Scott and Cheshworth.

NAVY WALKOVER
Scoring one tally in the first half and adding another in the second, with "Tug" Wilson doing the hat trick, Navy had little difficulty in accounting for the Hearts at Lower Beason Hill.

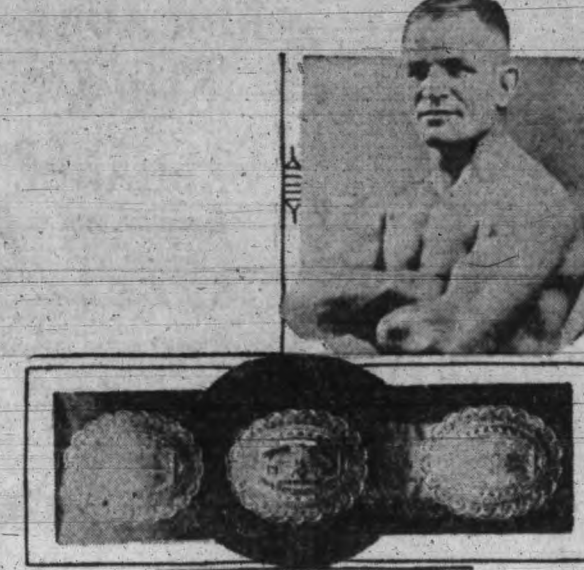

Play swung from end to end in the first half, Hearts making several good attempts but spoiling their chances through crowding.

Wheat Prices Are Slightly Lower On Winnipeg Exchange

Winnipeg, Feb. 23.—Back-spreading operations which involved selling here against purchases at Chicago accounted for weakness which left wheat prices 1/4 to 1/2 lower at the close of trading on the grain exchange here today. Liverpool was easier and export sales were estimated at only 200,000 bushels.

May closed at 48 1/2, July at 49 1/2 and October at 50 1/2.

Broomhall reported some fairly good purchases of Canadian wheat by Germany which are believed to be for export to Czechoslovakia. It is expected Argentine wheat shipments will total 4,500,000 bushels this week, which is 500,000 bushels less than last week. Soviet Russia shipped only 56,000 bushels of wheat this week compared with none last week and 112,000 bushels in the corresponding week last year.

Traders were unable to report any improvement in cash wheat trades and actual sales of coarse grains, too, were small.

NEW ISLAND IS LOCATED

Ship Captain Reports He Sighted Small Island Showing Light in Mid-Pacific

San Pedro, Feb. 23.—A report of a new island in the mid-Pacific was announced here yesterday by the Navy Hydrographic Office. The report was made by Capt. L. O. Richardson of the British motorship Bliver Beech. "On February 11," he reported, "at 12:46 a.m. latitude 31:28 north, longitude 152:13 east, I sighted a small island about fifteen feet high and a half mile long, with a fixed white light in the middle."

Charts of the area show this location as deep water south and east of the main group of Japanese Islands. The nearest charted land is Marcus Island, Japanese possession, 400 miles distant. Capt. Richardson suggested the new island is of volcanic origin, thrown up by some subterranean disturbance. He attributed the light to some Japanese fisherman or native from a distant island having moved on the new land.

RAIL SAFETY RECORD GOOD

In Fifteen Years Only Few People Killed on Railroads in United States

Chicago, Feb. 23.—Although the railroads have their troubles in recent years, their safety record has been no let up in their campaign to protect passengers. An announcement issued yesterday by the Milwaukee Road safety department indicates that the year just closed marks another in which no passenger was fatally injured as a result of an accident involving its passenger trains.

In the last fifteen years more than 154,000,000 passengers have traveled on the Milwaukee Road, their journeys totaling over 30,000,000 miles. During that period only one passenger was fatally injured in a train accident, according to the announcement. The road operates more than 1,000 miles of railroad in twelve states, between the Great Lakes and the North Pacific Coast.

Figures for 1932 are not yet available, but in 1931 on all railroads of the United States only four passengers were fatally injured as a result of collisions or derailments, and thirty-two were injured. The National Safety Council, while civil aviation accidents were responsible for the death of 439 persons.

The railway figures have added significance when it is considered that passenger trains carried an average of forty-five persons in 1931, while automobiles ordinarily carry but two or three.

The railroad's safety record is the reward of eternal vigilance, according to J. T. Gillick, vice-president of the Milwaukee Road.

"Railroads are quick to avail themselves of modern safety devices and appliances, but they must be used. The nature of the work depends almost entirely upon safe practices being followed by their employees. The record is a tribute to the employees and the fact that they are effective work being done by our safety department," said Mr. Gillick.

Trained supervisors conduct a constant educational campaign on all sections of the railroad instructing employees in safe methods and investigating each mishap to prevent recurrence. Inquiries to the railroad's safety department are decreasing, according to the announcement.

Hitler Would Like to See The World Totally Disarmed

"Do Away With Armies and Germany Will Gladly Scrap Hers," He Tells Interviewer

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Correspondent
Berlin, Feb. 23.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, whom political opponents depict as a sabre-rattling believer in big armies and navies, yesterday committed himself unequivocally to a policy of universal and complete disarmament.

"We are willing to go to any length to further the ideal of disarmament," the Chancellor told the Associated Press. "But we insist the same standards shall apply for all. Do away at once with armies if you please and Germany will gladly scrap hers also."

This declaration by the new Chancellor to his newspaper, Der Volkswacht, so to speak, emphasizing the points in a written memorandum which he handed the correspondent at the conclusion of the interview.

The Chancellor's quiet self-assurance was noteworthy inasmuch as, in marked contrast to his perfect poise before large audiences, he used to make an almost shy impression in his personal meetings.

"You have submitted a number of questions," said Herr Hitler, who was dressed in his customary black suit, black shoes, white shirt and black tie, with a Nazi swastika in the lapel of his coat.

The two rushed to the wreckage as the glider brought death to thirty-year-old Arthur Russell of Galt late yesterday when the machine crashed to the ice of Foulch Lake from a height of 150 feet. Wesley Russell, father of Arthur, had his brother, Clarence, were eye-witnesses of the tragedy.

Arthur Russell had considerable experience gliding as a member of the Windsor Club and won several trophies at various glider meets. On his return to Galt he organized a gliding club here which had about fifteen members.

MOVE FOR NEW TRADE TREATY

Roosevelt Reported to Have Sent Representative to Ottawa

Canadian Press
New York, Feb. 23.—A special Washington dispatch printed in The New York Times today said Henry Morgenthau II, close counsel of President-elect Franklin Roosevelt, made a recent visit to Ottawa and is linked with plans to present a new trade treaty to the Dominion and the United States.

The dispatch declared the United States President-elect had sent Mr. Morgenthau, son of the former United States Ambassador to Turkey, to Ottawa for the express purpose of ascertaining prospects for working out a reciprocal tariff understanding. It did not state, however, which Ottawa officials, if any, were interviewed by the emissary.

DOUBTS COSMOS AS LIFE SOURCE

Discovery of Living Organisms in Meteors Do Not Prove Theory, Scientists Say

Dr. Lipman Sees Chemical Origin in Simple Molecule For Life on Earth, Other Planets

New York, Feb. 23.—The recent discovery by Professor Charles B. Lipman, internationally known bacteriologist of the University of California, that meteorites contain living micro-organisms, has caused scientists to doubt the possibility that life on this planet had its beginning by the transportation of living matter from some other planet. It was declared that life on this planet also.

His discovery, Dr. Lipman said, may mean that science has at last obtained the first bit of direct evidence that points to the possibility that life in some form may exist in some other parts of the cosmos outside the earth. However, the same conditions that have given rise to life in the meteorites may have existed, and very likely did exist, on this planet also.

The beginnings of life, here on earth as well as elsewhere, Dr. Lipman believes, can be most logically explained on purely physical and chemical grounds. Instead of beginning with a complicated bit of protoplasm, which consists of many or at least several molecules, life, he holds, began with a simple molecule, much simpler than the protein molecule or than bacteria.

It is illogical to assume, he said, that a large gap exists between non-living and living matter. The beautiful symmetry of the series of organic substances known to the chemist would seem to argue for a gradual transition rather than an abrupt break.

START IN SIMPLE MOLECULE
"In order that this may be true, however," he continued, "it is necessary that simple substances than protoplasm, or even proteins, should have become possessors of the attributes of life. I have, therefore, imagined that instead of a very complicated bit of protoplasm, no matter how small in size, composed of many, or at least, of several molecules, including protein molecules, whose structure we do not yet understand, the beginning of life form was in a living single molecule, much simpler than the protein molecule."

"Thus there is no reason, it seems to me, why a single molecule of substance similar to a complex molecule, different in structure from a molecule of an amino acid, or of a polypeptide, should not have become possessed of the attributes of life long before protoplasm, or protoplasm, could have been formed."

"We can imagine that in the early history of the terraqueous (earth and water) mass which was then the earth, with high temperatures and great chemical and electrical activity existent, such substances as carbon dioxide, water and nitrates may have been caused to combine in such fashion as to produce a pattern of a molecule in which the behavior of the substance, in regard to motion, growth and reaction with its environment, was not perhaps the same, but in a primitive way similar to that of an amoeba, and

SCHOOLS MAKE RELIEF WORK

Saanich to Improve High School Grounds at Small Expense

Considerable improvement will be made to the grounds of Mount View High School this year, the Saanich School Board decided yesterday evening. The cost to the board will be nominal, only the labor and other material being provided from the school budget. It is expected that a large number of men will be employed on the grounds at various times throughout the spring and summer months, their wages being paid from municipal relief funds.

When the trustees were compiling their budget for the year they were assured by Reeve Crouch that a certain amount of relief labor would be at their disposal for improvement of school grounds. The trustees anticipate much benefit to the schools will accrue from the reeve's undertaking.

Thirty-five new high school cabinet top desks were purchased at a cost of $280.

Dental services were given seventy-two pupils in January, the board was informed by Dr. E. Youlton, school dentist. The value of the work was placed at $88.90.

The board was informed by the Provincial Public Works Department that no responsibility could be accepted for the safety of children being transported by detour from Craigflower district to Craigflower School, during reconstruction of the Craigflower bridge. The cost of the special service is being borne by the provincial treasury, but it was the opinion of the department that the ordinary bus insurance should be extended to cover the special service. The matter was referred to the transportation contractors.

COL. W. R. DALZIEL SPEAKING TO-NIGHT

Colonel W. R. Dalziel, of Toronto, chief secretary and second in command of the Salvation Army forces in Canada, Newfoundland and Alaska, will visit Victoria to-day and will lead a public meeting at the Salvation Army Citadel, Broad Street, to-night at 8 o'clock. He will be accompanied by his brother, Major A. Dalziel, of Vancouver, divisional commander for Southern British Columbia.

Colonel Dalziel, became an Army officer in 1904, from King's Cross, London, England, and has served in the British territory as a field and staff officer.

LIFE INSURANCE WRITINGS HEAVY

(By JACK BARRACLOUGH)

"The progress of man's social being can be measured by the acquirement of an increasing number and better quality of standards which he has adopted as guides for his conduct and as responsibilities to which he has committed himself.

Many of these standards are forced upon the individual by the community, and thus they become rules of force, such institutions as government and councils being the children of such standards and habits and not vice versa as is often imagined.

Many of our standards become extremely popular without culminating in enforcement upon the individual. Such institutions as churches and charities would come under this heading. The great institution of life insurance has long been recognized, as one of the standards by which to measure the social progress of man, and as long as the year 1922 the following appraisal of insurance, part of an article in the Encyclopedia Britannica, was published:

"Life insurance is an institution peculiar to the modern world, the origin and growth of which attest the remarkable change in man's ideas and habits of thought. Its essential element is foresight and co-operation: the former the distinction of civilized man; the latter the means for social progress."

Below are some figures of interest which disclose the amount of life insurance in force in some of the countries of the world as at December 31, 1929:

United States $109,146,440.000
United Kingdom 11,705,129.000
Canada 6,606,526.000
Japan 5,972,874.000
Germany 3,722,694.000

It will be easily seen by the above figures that Canada and the United States lead the rest of the world in the amount of insurance carried, per capita of population. No doubt the reason for this state of affairs is the fact that the inhabitants of these two countries have been more inclined towards adopting this new habit of buying protection because of the education they have received through a well-organized force of salesmen.

Life insurance companies have now reached a point where they control the major part of finance in the western world, and it is admitted that the greatest financial institution in the world is a life insurance company.

URGES CANADA OBSERVE PACTS

R. Bell Irving of C.M.A. Would Have Nation Stand By Its Treaties

Shows Necessity For High Standard of Exports to Empire Markets

Members of the Victoria and Vancouver Island Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, at their annual meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday, were urged to use their influence to see that Canada upheld, in spirit as well as letter, the agreements into which the nation entered as the result of the Imperial Economic Conference, by Richard Bell Irving, who spoke to the membership on Inter-Imperial Trade.

Mr. Bell Irving emphasized the necessity of maintaining a high standard of quality in Canadian exports to other dominions as well as foreign countries and expressed his conviction Canada would benefit from a move to link up the dollar with the British pound sterling.

He sketched briefly the staunch manner in which Great Britain had faced her crisis a year and a half ago, noting the formation of the Nationalist Government and the rallying of the British public to meet their difficulties without political bias but with sound common sense.

The National Government had borrowed heavily and paid off its debts to the amazement of other nations. Later it had started its remarkable conversion loan, meeting with splendid support from the people.

"BUY BRITISH" CAMPAIGN
He believed the overwhelming majority of the National Government meant the extension of trade within the empire. The government had immediately launched its "Buy British" campaign widely supported by the people and incorporating the dominions in a moral preference.

One of the first definite changes in the fiscal policy of Great Britain lay in the preferences it gave to dominions last February.

The next great step for the empire and for the world lay in the Ottawa conference. As a result of the conference the Mother Country had ratified its agreements in Parliament and had abrogated its trade treaty with Russia.

He cited the benefits accruing from the bonds of empire in the formation of trade treaties within the empire.

Mr. Bell Irving questioned Canada's application of principle set at the Ottawa conference. He noted the difficulty faced by Canada through its proximity to the United States.

As the result of England going off the gold standard industry had been revived in Great Britain. The people there were working with their coats off and depression was never mentioned, he declared.

The speaker cited the hard conditions under which many Canadian concerns had failed to pay income taxes and had been unable to make a profit.

WOULD SCALE DOWN DOLLAR
Immediate increase in tax revenues would result from the scaling down the exchange rate on the Canadian dollar to that of the British pound, Mr. Bell Irving said. It would lead to an increased influx of United States capital and tourists and would bring about a revival of confidence, he declared.

Dump duties would vanish between other parts of the empire and Canada. Turning to British Columbia industries, he noted the case of canned salmon. A ten per cent. preference given by Britain was useless in view of the fact that British Columbia's competitors, Russia and Japan, had money to throw in exchange they enjoyed a comparative advantage of from twenty to thirty per cent. in British funds. If Canada's currency were scaled down to the pound sterling, those outside competitors would not enjoy such a favorable position, he observed.

Government inspection of Canadian canneries had bolstered up the prestige of the Canadian product and as a result Canada had gained the confidence of outside markets and would enjoy minimum tariffs in the future. Such a case would be applicable in France and better conditions would grow up in Great Britain, depending, of course, on a high standard of quality, he said.

'HABEAS CORPUS' FOR FRENCH LAW

Provisional Release For Suspects in Five Days Is Made Mandatory

First Act of Its Kind in France Hailed as New Guarantee of Liberty

Paris, Feb. 23.—A law that will supply much the same relief as that provided by the habeas corpus and will profoundly modify French criminal procedure is now promulgated. By it all arrested suspect must be provisionally released within five days if they are not convicted before then and if they can prove they are not vagabonds without domicile and if the crime of which they are accused does not call for prison sentence of more than two years.

The first result of this law will be the release of some 500 prisoners from Santa-Fresnes and Petite-Roquette prisons in Paris alone, without counting the provinces, and this effect is already viewed with alarm by the French Right press. Judges, justices and public prosecutors had hasty conferences in Paris to-day regarding how the new situation must be faced. It was sprung rather suddenly because although parliament approved the bill at the end of December, it had not been promulgated within the usual thirty days, and was done so to-day only because Deputy Henri Guernut threatened to interpellate the government about it. M. Guernut acted on behalf of the League for the Rights of Man, which is keenly interested in the new law.

The Anglo-Saxon conceptions of jurisprudence differ radically from those obtaining on the continent generally. In Great Britain, for instance, a man is considered innocent until he is proved guilty, while in France a man could be kept in prison for months without a trial for a minor offense, the sentence for which was less than the time spent in prison before the trial. France, moreover, has never had anything like a habeas corpus writ, which is considered the keynote of the administration of criminal law in Britain and the United States. Thus this new law, while arousing keen criticism because of its temporary disadvantages, is also being hailed as bringing new guarantees of individual liberty to Frenchmen.
